Lindbergh Accepts President Coolidge's Invitation to Washington, D.C.
TO ARRIVE ON JUNE 11

Will Board Cruiser Memphis Instead of Destroyer to Expedite Journey

WASHINGTON, June 1.—A welcome befitting a Dewey or a Pershing will be given Capt.
Charles A. Lindbergh, airman hero, when he docks here June 11 aboard
the fast cruiser Memphis.

President Coolidge announced today that the youthful flyer, honored by kings and commoners abroad, had accepted an invitation to sail aboard the Memphis from Europe and to steam up the Potomac to receive a nation's plaudits through the president, cabinet officers, soldiers, sailors and citizenry.

The shift from plans to bring him home aboard the destroyer Breck came after Lindbergh in-London had received from the president's special cabinet reception committee an invitation to make Washington his first port of call. It really was the president's own invitation—a bid equivalent to a royal command.

When the Memphis sails off from what port was not made clear in the presidential announcement.

In accepting the presidential invitation, Lindbergh disappoints the metropolis of New York, which had planned to herald him with unusual honors.

But President Coolidge, anxious to honor the daring New York-to-Paris flyer, had set his heart on seeing Lindbergh before starting westward on his Black Hills summer vacation.

To do this, the Memphis was called into action. It can land him here June 11, two days ahead of the president's scheduled departure.
Lindbergh will be guest of the president and, through him, of a nation proud of his air exploits.

Details of the great reception are yet to be moulded. But the preliminary arrangements call for a greeting such as no civilian has ever had. The home-coming of a Dewey or a Pershing will be the only comparison for the man whose daring has fired the world's imagination.

Present plans call for the Memphis to steam through Hampton Roads and up the Potomac, to dock here.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur consulted President Coolidge after the announcement and later told the press everything would be done to get Lindbergh into Washington on Saturday morning, the eleventh, so the celebration could be accomplished that day.

The three press associations will be permitted one representative each aboard the Memphis from Europe, he said.

Van Ormand Is Winner Of Balloon Race

AKRON, O., June 1.—Ward
T. Van Ormand, pilot of the Goodyear V, today was officially declared winner of the national balloon race, which started here Monday with a field of 15 entrants.

Van Ormand landed near Bar Harbor, Me., a distance of 710 miles from Akron.

Edward J. Hill, the last of the pilots to report, was down at Skowhegan, Me., 665 miles away, and thereby won second place.

The honor of third place on the American team for the international balloon race went to Capt. W. E. Kepner, of army balloon No. 3, who grounded at Biddeford, Me., a flight of 610 miles.

1800 MARINES ARE ORDERED INTO TIENTSIN

Troops Will Move North to Protect Americans in Event of Attack

SHANGHAI, June 1.—U. S. marines, commanded by Brig. Gen.
Smedley D. Butler, were ordered north to Tientsin today. Butler will sail tomorrow with 1800 men aboard the destroyer Richmond and transport Henderson.

There has been considerable uneasiness regarding the safety of Americans in Tientsin, owing to the rapid movement of the Nationalist armies toward the capital. Tientsin is the port of Peking and is about 80 miles from the capital.

MOVE PROBABLY IN RESPONSE TO APPEAL

SAN DIEGO, June 1.—Marine officers stationed at the base here, when informed of the government's decision to send General Butler and his expeditionary force to Tientsin by the United Press, said that the move undoubtedly was in response to the appeal of the American minister at Peking for additional protection for the city in case of an attack.

MRS. LINDBERGH MAY BE WHITE HOUSE GUEST

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The "first ladies of the land"—the wife of President Coolidge and the mother of Charles Lindbergh, air hero, will break bread under the same roof when "Lucky" arrives to receive the nation's homage. Mrs.
Coolidge today was preparing to send a simple invitation—"as from one school matron to another"—to Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, in Detroit, asking her to make the temporary White House her home while her boy is in the city.

Will Call Alleged Slayer at Inquest

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Joe Hardeman, 65, who surrendered to police for the murder of Mrs. Victoria Woods, 55, was to appear at an inquest today and tell further how he hit the woman over the head with a lead pipe and then slashed her ankles, "so she could-not dance any more." Hardeman, according to police, attacked Mrs.
Woods when she refused to marry him and inflicted serious injuries upon Mrs. Emma O'Bell, when she attempted to interfere.

Troops On Guard Fire Into Crowd

TAMPA, Fla., June 1.—Two men were killed and a score wounded here early today in clashes between a mob besieging the Hillsboro county jail and National Guard troops detailed yesterday to guard the building.

The dead are:
Shal Pifer and H. G. McCray.
Both were Tampa civilians, alleged members of the mob.

The casualties occurred shortly before dawn, when, for the second time, the mob stormed the jail, bent on seizing B. F. Levins, confessed slayer of a father and two children.

It had been announced repeatedly that Levins was held in another county, but the mob was unconvinced.

The first attempt to gain admittance to the jail was made late Monday night. Street lights were smashed and, under cover of darkness, a hole was battered in one wall of the jail. This outbreak was quelled by the sheriff's force after eight persons had been wounded.

Last night's attack followed a day of sullen quietness, during which National Guardsmen had mounted machine guns at the corners of the jail and in nearby buildings and roped off spaces surrounding the prison.

At nightfall the mob grew larger. More than 2000 persons, most of them youths, were milling around the jail by midnight.
They started shouting and throwing missiles at the defending guardsmen.

"Give us the hyena or there'll be trouble," shouted some one and the cry was taken up on all sides of the jail.

Suddenly a group rushed the ropes. Others put out the lights with stones and brickbats. An order to halt from the guardsmen failed to stop the attack. Pistols were drawn and a volley fired.
Six of the attacking party, among them Pifer and McCray, went down.

Ford Defendant In New Libel Action

DETROIT, Mich., June 1.—Henry Ford, billionaire automobile manufacturer, named defendant in a $200,000 libel suit filed here in federal court today by Joseph Miller, real estate dealer of Detroit.

Miller, in his complaint, accuses Ford and others of having attempted maliciously and wilfully to injure his good name and bring him into public scandal by causing him to be suspected of having attempted to corrupt a jury.

Senora Calles In Speedy Recovery

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Senora
Natalia Calles, wife of the president of Mexico, who underwent a major operation here last week,
was reported to be steadily improving today at the California Lutheran hospital. Dr. Alejandro Wallace said that no complications
have developed, and that Senora Calles was recovering speedily from
the effects of the operation.

ARMED GUARD WILL PROTECT ALLEGED SLAYER AT INQUEST

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—
Durward Wittenmyer, 16-year-old slayer of Mrs. Fannie L.
Weigle, prominent Pomona woman, will be removed to Pomona today under a heavily armed guard of deputy sheriffs, to attend an inquest into circumstances surrounding the death of his victim.

Every precaution will be taken to guard the youth against mob violence, following reports that feeling in Pomona had risen to such a pitch that it was feared attempts might be made to lynch the youthful slayer.

WOULD-BE SUICIDE BELIEVED TO BE FORMER FOLLIES GIRL

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—
Believed to be Mary Lygo, a former Zeigfeld Follies beauty, a girl known in the motion picture colony as "Irene Fuller" was believed to be dying in a hospital here today from the effects of self-administered poison.

"Be most careful as to name
M. L., as it means so much to the press," the girl wrote to a friend and from this clew police were attempting to establish the identity of the girl as Mary Lygo, who gained much publicity five years ago in a heart balm suit against

JULIAN STOCKHOLDERS SEEK TO FORCE CRIMINAL ACTION

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Action on the part of victims of the Julian Petroleum corporation stock overissue loomed today as groups of stockholders prepared to meet and force criminal and civil action against officials of the company and pool operators, who are said to have extracted at least $10,000,000 in usurious interest from the company.

San Diego stockholders were scheduled to meet at the office of Stiver and Peabody, Los Angeles attorneys, to lay plans for the filing of civil and criminal action against the A. C. Wagy and company, suspended brokerage firm, Julian officials and alleged pool operators.

REAPPORTIONMENT MEASURE SIGNED

SACRAMENTO, June 1.—The "farm bureau plan" of legislative reapportionment, which places the farm districts in control of the California state senate and the city districts in control of the assembly, was approved by Governor Young today, when he signed SB 490 by Senators Boggs, Nelson, Baker and Mueller.

Under the new law, Los Angeles will have but one state senator instead of seven as at present. Los Angeles, however, will have 22 as-semblymen instead of 15 as at present. San Francisco will have only 11 assemblymen instead of the present 13.

Daughter of Jack London to Marry

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Announcement was made today that Bess London, daughter of the late Jack London, will be married Saturday to Percy DeWitt Fleming, local business man. Miss London has written a number of short stories.

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Senora
Natalia Calles, wife of the president of Mexico, who underwent a
major operation here last week,
was reported to be steadily improving today at the California Lutheran hospital. Dr. Alejandro Wallace said that no complications
have developed, and that Senora Calles was recovering speedily from
the effects of the operation.

MANILA, June 1.—The constabulary today expressed fear that 108 persons, reported missing, had drowned when the inter-island steamer Negros foundered in a typhoon Saturday afternoon.

The ship sank 150 miles south of Manila, it was believed.

The captain, six of the crew, the chief engineer and 100 passengers were those reported missing.

the island of Romblon Thursday with 150 passengers and a large cargo. For two days all hands battled the typhoon and terrific seas, it was reported.

The extraordinary heroism of an officer on the first day of the storm was credited with saving 70 lives when he succeeded in loading 50 passengers and some of the crew aboard the lifeboat.

After 39 hours without food or drink and in spite of terrific buff-eting in the wild seas, they succeeded in landing safely on the shore of Tayabas province Sunday night, according to reports here.

Two other inter-island steamers were overdue and it was feared they might have foundered also. The Aurora was three days overdue from the island of Palawan and the Bohol two days overdue out of Cebu.

The Aurora and Bohol carried passengers and considerable freight.
The Yanco company, owner of the Negros, chartered an inter-island vessel today and sent it to the scene of the wreck. The typhoon was continuing and little hope was held for the missing.

MEXICO BOYCOTTS AMERICAN GOODS

WASHINGTON, June 1.—A boycott against American goods has been instituted in Mexican government departments, according to reports to the state department today from Ambassador Shiffeld, confirming press dispatches.

Secretary Kellogg said he had not been informed of Mexico's reason for this action.

He intimated this government, under its embargo against arms shipments to Mexico, recently had refused export permits desired by the Mexican government.

13 Signatures On Water Agreement

FRESNO, June 1.—With the announcement that 13 irrigation districts have affixed their signature to the water rights agreement which will be used as a basis for construction of the $15-000,000 Pine Flat dam and reservoir, officials of the project today said they expected the remaining four districts to sign within a month. The 13 districts that have signed represent a total of 500,000 acres of land on the Kings river.

Niece of Former President Dead

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—Miss Annie Buchanan, niece of former President Buchanan and Stephen
C. Foster, the composer, died at her home here today. She was a member of a prominent Philadelphia family and for years had been identified with religious and philanthropic activities. She was 90 years old.

RELIEF FROM FLOOD DANGERS FORECAST

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.— Relief for certain sections of the "sugar bowl" area of Louisiana, where floods have caused damage for weeks, was forecast today through diminution of the flow through the McCreas crevasse.

Dr. I. M. Cline, meteorologist for the weather bureau here, pointed out that waters in some flood districts were receding and this indicated some of the territory might not be inundated.

He referred particularly to the section south of Morgan-sea, which had been expected to suffer heavily.

New Jersey Towns Feel Earthquake

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 1.—A severe earth tremor of 10 seconds duration shook buildings here at 8:41 a. m. today.

Workers in high buildings in the center of town felt the quake distinctly.

Reports within five miles of Asbury Park and from the commanding officer at Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook, were similar.

The tremor was distinct in Jersey City. Dishes were shaken from shelves in homes.
The Red Bank and Freshhold, N.
J., reported the shock had been severe in those places.

PRESBYTERIAN LIBERALISTS IN FOUR VICTORIES

Suit Demanding Unfrocking of Two Pastors Is Dismissed

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Toleration became the keynote of the 139th general assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., which drew to a close here today.

Four times the fundamentalist-liberalist controversy arose on the floor of the convention and four times the liberalists—they say they are not "modernists"—won.

The last bitter fight occurred yesterday, when the report of the permanent judicial committee, dismissing the suit of Dr. Walter D.
Buchanan against the synod of New York, demanding the unfrocking of the Rev. Cameron Parker Hall and the Rev. Carlos G. Fuller, because of alleged statements doubting the virgin birth and immaculate conception, was adopted by the assembly by a vote of 333 to 238.

First victory for those liberalists who believe that the Presbyterian church is big enough to allow for divergent schools of thought was the election of Dr. Robert Elliott Speer as moderator.

Second and third were the adoption of the report of the Princeton seminary committee.

Announcement that the laymen's committee of the church had successfully completed the task of raising a $15,000,000 endowment fund for ministers' pensions was one of the high lights of the assembly and was hailed as the dawn of a new day for Presbyterian and other protestant ministers who may now look forward to the future and consecrate their lives to the church without facing the grim spectre of old age poverty.

The 1928 assembly will be held in Tulsa, Okla.

Landis Reinstates Brazil to Angels

CHICAGO, June 1.—Reinstatement of Frank Brazil, Pacific Coast league player, was announced today by Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis. Landis sent the following telegram to Harry Williams, president of the Pacific Coast league:

"Brazil reinstated effective this date; also notify Marty Krug, manager of the Los Angeles club, and Brazil, and all managers and players that hereafter personal assaults on umpires will be followed by suspension or ineligibility of offender for a period of from 90 days to one year."

Brazil was suspended late in April following an assault on Umpire Mal Eason.

GIRLS LEAGUE AT POLY HIGH TO NOMINATE

An assembly is to be held tomorrow morning by the Girls League of the Santa Ana Polytechnic High school for the purpose of nominating the officers for the next year. Miss Gayle Baldwin retiring president, will preside.

A list of nominees for the four principal offices of the Girls League has been approved by the retiring cabinet. Miss Clara Kate Owens will be a candidate for the presidency. The others are Miss Olive Granger, vice president; Miss Florence Brownridge, secretary, and Miss Marjorie Huber, treasurer.

The girls' meeting will be thrown open to nominations from the floor. Ballots will be distributed later this week for the voting. The installation of the new officers will probably be held next week at another special assembly, Miss Baldwin said.

The elective officers of the Girls League, after the voting, will meet to name the cabinet members whose positions are filled by appointment. All of the officers, including the committee chairmen, will participate in the installation ceremony.

MAY MARRIAGE LICENSE MARK IS SHATTERED

Marriage license records for Orange county, which have been broken regularly each month for many years, almost without exception, sustained another fracture when May established a mark of 461 licenses issued.

This is a May record, as usual, but does not approach the record of 522 set by June, last year, as shown by the books of County Clerk J. M. Backs.

That June record, however, seems due for elimination this month, in the opinion of Clerk Backs. It would probably fall anyway, since each year sees heavier matrimonial traffic coming into Orange county, but there is a special reason this year for a new high total. Not only June, but July, also, may set marks that will stand for perhaps several years, instead of being lowered in one year.

The special reason is seen in the new marriage law, requiring couples to file applications for a marriage license at least three days before the license is issued. This law will be in effect about August 1 and Backs is looking for a rush to the altar during June and July.

Not only the desire to avoid advance publicity for their marriage plans will urge couples to hold their nuptials before the new law overtakes them, but the nuisance and bother as well as the expense of making two trips to the license bureau, Backs believes, will hasten affairs of the heart to their climax in many cases. It is even possible that July, always a fairly close second to June in marriage license applications, may even surpass its romantic sister month in this case, being the last month under the old law.

Then, in August, there will probably be a slump, Backs predicts. June and July, he thinks, will have cleaned up the immediately available supply of brides and grooms.

WORLD TRAVEL HELD BOON TO GOOD FEELING

STOCKTON, Calif., June 1.—Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific, is strongly in favor of international tours on the part of American business men, educators, writers, social workers and ministers, such as he participated in on his recent trip abroad, for the purpose of promoting a spirit of understanding among the nations.

Dr. Knoles was one of the party of 140 persons of the American Seminar who visited England, France, Germany, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland.

Twenty-four of the party included Russia in their itinerary. Dr. Knoles being one of them. Throughout their tour of three months, Dr. Knoles says they were able to acquaint themselves with conditions and all shades of opinion, and there seemed to be perfect willingness on the part of men and women, both in public and private life, to meet and discuss with the American investigators from every point of view.

"It was surprising to us to see men of different political parties speaking to us from the same platform in England, Germany and France," says Dr. Knoles. "For example, in London we were received at No. 10 Downing street by Premier and Mrs. Baldwin, who spoke with us frankly about the coal strike, then in progress. We had tea with Lady Astor, and were entertained by Arthur Henderson of the Labor party. We listened to an address delivered to us by Sir Robert Horne, on the financial situation. Everywhere we were received by government officials who took pains to explain conditions in their respective countries. In Paris we heard, among others, Gaston Gerz, the economic expert who prepared the report on the financial situation that brought about the fall of the Briand government. In Germany, we were given 15 lectures by prominent men, and Dr. Jules Hirsch, then minister of finance and member of the faculty of the University of Berlin, addressed us on the Dawes plan."

Local Briefs

Directors of the Cypress Chamber of Commerce will meet in conference here tonight with the good roads committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce for discussion of the Century boulevard project. The meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce office. Clyde Jenken, city engineer of Santa Ana, is chairman of the local committee.

Leo Virgil Davis, 24, and Ella Marie Armstrong, 19, both of Santa Ana, have been issued a marriage license in Riverside.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hart, 841 North Birch street, were en route east today for a three-month tour of principal cities of the United States, much of which time will be spent in Washington, D. C. Mr. and Mrs. Hart took the northern route, but will return via the southern route.

Telegraphic advice received by Santa Ana friends yesterday reported the death of John H. Klein, in Chicago, after a lingering illness. Mr. Klein was well-known in this city, having been connected with the Norton drug store here for eight years, and later associated with the Santa Ana drug store. The deceased left here about two months ago.

Raymond C. Lieser has returned to the C. B. Chamberlain home at 645 North Birch street from Davenport, Ia., after an absence of several years. He has just completed a course in the Palmer Chiropractic school at Davenport. He has not yet decided where he will practice.

A telegram was received yesterday afternoon by H. A. Russell, instructor of physics and surveying at the Santa Ana Junior college, advising him that his father, W. Russell, had been instantly killed, and his mother seriously injured in an automobile accident which occurred late Monday in the outskirts of Denver. The elder Russell was a professor of mathematics at the University of Denver. The Santa Ana school man left last night for the Mountain state to be at the bedside of his mother as well as to attend the funeral of his father.

A hearing on the application of Skidmore Brothers' corporation to discontinue serving water in a portion of the section now served at Laguna Beach will be held by the state railroad commission June 7 at 11 a. m. in the Community hall at Laguna Beach.

With contributions since last Thursday totaling $9, the Mississippi river sufferers relief fund today stood at $7388.91. Those adding the $9 to the fund were as follows: Friend, $1; Richland Avenue Methodist church Ladies Aid society, $3; Friend, $5.

GASOLINE TAX TO NET COUNTY OVER $101,945

Ranking eighth among the California counties in the amount of receipts from the two cent gasoline tax, Orange county will receive $101,945.55 for the six months period ending March 31, according to announcement made today in Sacramento by State Controller Ray L. Riley.

This is an increase of about 20 per cent over the corresponding period of last year, as compared to an increase of only 11 1/2 per cent for the state as a whole. It was shown today from records of County Auditor W. C. Jerome. It will make a total of $287,680.48 for the year from this source, or about $17,000 more than had been expected.

Seven counties receiving more from the gas tax than Orange county are Los Angeles, San Francisco, Alameda, San Diego, Fresno, Santa Clara and Sacramento, the last named county exceeding Orange county by only $35.01. The amounts show that Orange county's per capita ownership of automobiles, judging from the gas tax, is about on a par with its population rank in the state, and slightly below its rating in assessed valuation of property, which is sixth in the state. In other words, Orange county, on the face of the figures, could afford to own more automobiles, it is estimated.

The present apportionment received, after the salaries of motorcycle officers are paid. The tax is equally divided between the state and the various counties.

The money, not yet received by the county, will be placed in what is known as the auto license road fund, to be used for the building and maintenance of roads, according to County Auditor Jerome.

Discussing the fund today, Jerome referred to it as the county's only remaining political football. The fund is divided among the various districts of the county as the supervisors see fit.

"If this money was handled as other tax moneys raised in the county are handled," said Jerome, "that is, if it went into the good roads fund for the maintenance of the bonded roads of the county, it would virtually take care of that fund, which is now maintained by levying a 20 cent tax on all property of the county. In that way it would reduce the individual taxpayer's taxes about 18 cents on each $100 valuation."

Jerome expressed the opinion that the fund, as it is handled does not relieve the tax burden, but has a somewhat contrary effect, because it induces the building of roads that, if financed through other channels, would never be attempted.

U. S. LOANS TO HELP GERMANY OUT OF SLUMP

PARIS, June 1.—M. Loucheur, who has returned from a series of conferences with the leading business men and industrialists of Germany held in Berlin under the direction of the Berlin Chamber of Commerce, has made a statement to the Temps on the general results of his negotiations.

His view of the situation in Germany is that it justifies neither the optimism of certain foreigners who visit the country nor the pessimism of certain Germans. Although industry is not yet in full swing, exports increase as trade and industry obtain the necessary capital, thanks to the large credits supplied by the United States. The solution of German problems lies in lowering the cost price, and this has already been effected to a considerable degree by the process of concentration and "rationalization."

The most striking example of concentration, says M. Loucheur, is the fusion within the chemical industry of all the producers of chemicals in Germany in a single concern. With regard to "rationalization," industries are being grouped in order that each factory may undertake one particular process. Before the chemical fusion the factories were turning out 14,000 different products; these products have been reduced to 2400, resulting in a reduction of labor of 10 per cent. Concentration on similar lines is being affected in other industries.

The attendant reduction in costs thus obtained has helped to develop export. At the same time the reduction in the cost of labor has hardly affected the unemployment figures. Germany has some 1,700,000 unemployed, but it is certain that at least half of these are members of the bourgeoisie who have come down in the world as the result of the inflation.

With regard to the economic rapprochement between France and Germany M. Loucheur states that some of those with whom he discussed the matter in Germany were surprised when they heard him declare that there could be no question of forming a Franco-German economic bloc and that France could not exclude either Great Britain or the other great industrial countries. He thinks, however, that the movement within Germany toward the co-operation of various industries at home will greatly facilitate the task of those who look forward to a similar effort on international lines.

The Bank of Italy belongs to the people of California—and it is as typically Californian as the historic Missions founded by the Franciscan fathers. Q As this institution has grown in scope—reaching new communities with its banking service—it has become more and more democratic in spirit, because of the increase in the number of its stockholders. Q Today, the Bank of Italy is literally owned by the people of the State of California.

NATIONAL CASH REGISTER MAN TO SPEAK HERE

R. Earl Ruddy, secretary-manager of the Business Men's association, announced today that arrangements have been made for the appearance here of F. J. Nichols, director of Merchants Service Bureau of the National Cash Register company, Dayton, Ohio, and a nationally known merchandising authority, who will speak before the association at Ketter's cafe, Friday, June 3, at 6:30 p. m.

According to Ruddy, the address to be given by the Dayton speaker will be of interest to merchants, salespeople and business men generally, because of his intimate association with latest developments and methods in retailing. Because of this fact, it has been decided to invite all business men in the city to the meeting, regardless of whether or not they are members of the association.

In his address, Nichols will deal with the brass tacks of building better retail business, it was stated. The most successful selling methods, plans for co-operation between merchants, ideas in buying and selling, store service and store management, all will enter into the discussion. The importance and proper use of advertising will also be taken up by the speaker.

Reservations for the dinner meeting should be made at once with the secretary of the Business Men's association, Hill building, or with the management of Ketter's cafe.

GARDEN GROVE MAN HURT IN ACCIDENT

Jose Aguirre, Garden Grove, was slightly injured at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the car in which he was riding collided with a machine driven by Miss Agnes Giesler, Santa Ana Route No. 6, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office today by Miss Giesler.

He refused to be taken to a hospital. Miss Giesler reported. The accident occurred at the intersection of Garfield avenue and the Talbert road.

Los Angeles Girl First June Bride In Orange County

A Los Angeles girl captured the honor of being the first June bride in Orange county, when Hazel Willits Brooks, 30, was married in Santa Ana early today to Guy Albert Mayer, 25, also of Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles couple appeared at the marriage license bureau a few minutes after it was opened this morning. They were married by Justice Kenneth E. Morrison.

E. A. WHITE, PIONEER FRUIT SHIPPER, AND SECRETARY OF C. OF C. 34 YEARS AGO, DIES

Death last night closed the career of E. A. White, pioneer fruit shipper of Santa Ana and a man who was identified with the business activities of Santa Ana for 40 years, prior to his retirement three or four years.

The pioneer died at the county hospital, where he had been an inmate for four years. So far as is known here, White had no relatives. Funeral arrangements are pending investigations by Coroner C. D. Brown and T. A. Winbigger as to relatives.

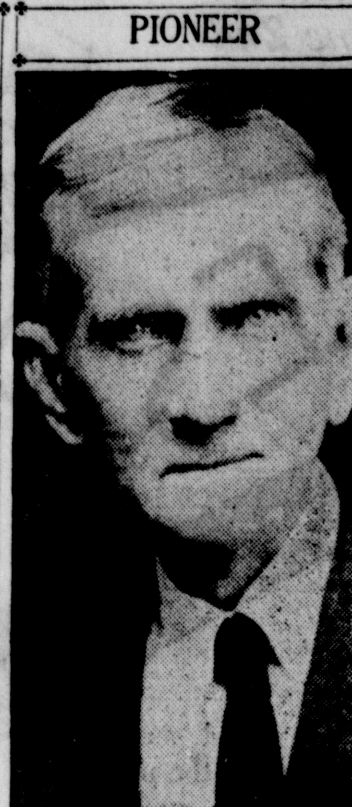

Mr. White came to Santa Ana some 40 years ago and engaged in fruit buying and shipping. His retail activity being principally in the retailing of fruits, the late J. A. Hankey having been associated with him in the latter merchandising effort.

In later years he was associated with others in shipping fruit. He specialized in the shipment of high grade fruit, and particularly of products such as persimmons and avocados that were more or less special in Orange county.

Always concerned with public affairs, Mr. White gave of his time and energy to the upbuilding of this community when it was but a very small city. He was the second secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, which position he first took 34 years ago, at a small compensation, and as a duty in addition to that of operating his own business. At that time, however, the secretary gave only part of his time to chamber of commerce work, principally in taking care of minutes and sending out literature on request. He served on the board of directors of the chamber in later years.

Mr. White was born in New York state and in his youth went to Kansas and still later to Texas, engaging in the latter state in stock raising, principally sheep.

With his stock raising venture a failure, White closed out in Texas and came to California, locating in Santa Ana.

FIRST CITRUS MONEY MAILED THIS MORNING

Likening the payment of $40,000, the first citrus money to go to growers this season, to the plugging of a huge $20,000,000 citrus melon, J. D. Spennetta, manager of the Red Fox Orchards association in Orange, announced this morning the inauguration, with the initial payment, of a new policy that of weekly payments to growers.

The 60 checks mailed out this morning marked the start of a new service policy of the organization, according to Spennetta. Each week, the organization will mail checks for fruit received at the packing house to the growers. It is hoped in this manner to keep money circulating and to give the ranchers an opportunity to realize on their crops immediately without being forced to wait two or three months for pool payments. No other packing house in this district is using this method of returns distribution.

The money being distributed today is for all fruit turned in since the opening of the season. It represents only a partial payment, however.

MISS NANCY ELDER OFF FOR NEW YORK

Miss Nancy Elder, general secretary of the Santa Ana Y.W.C.A., left today for New York City where she will spend the summer studying at the New York School of Social Work. Miss Elder stated that she probably will take up several subjects at the Y.W.C.A. secretaries' school which will also be in session there, and which will aid her in her work as vocational secretary for the Business and Professional Women's club, of which she is an active member.

Miss Elder was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Julia Elder, who will visit relatives in Ohio while her daughter is in New York.

During Miss Elder's absence the secretarial work at the Y.W.C.A. will be under the direction of Miss Helen McPeak, Girl Reserve secretary, and Miss Fannie Pease.

Bowling as an amateur sport has long flourished in the middle West, and during the past few years it has been making rapid progress in the east. Thus far no American Bowling Congress tournament, the temple classic, has been held along the Atlantic seaboard, but easterners now are optimistic that the time is not far distant when the east will be honored.

CIGARET STUB CAUSE OF FIRE IN FOOTHILLS

A cigaret stub, tossed from an automobile, is held responsible for the first foothill fire in this county this summer. The fire occurred at San Juan Hot Springs Thursday of last week. Eleven acres of sagebrush and greasewood were burned over.

The fire started beside the road at the first crossing above the hot springs, and ran up the mountain-side.

Thomas Forster, agent of the forest service at San Juan Capistrano, was notified. He took a crew of men to the place, and had the fire practically out before forest officers could arrive from Corona.

"This fire should be a warning to everybody who goes into the foothills or mountains," said Forest Ranger J. B. Stephenson.

"The dry season is here, and there is danger right now of disastrous fires. Everybody should be extremely careful with matches and cigar and cigarette stubs anywhere and any place, but particularly so along roadsides in the hills and mountains. Smokers may be arrested for smoking in areas where smoking is prohibited. Those who smoke in areas where smoking is allowed should have receptacles in their cars for receiving stubs. It is mighty easy for a smoker to flip a cigar or cigarette stub out a window, but it may prove to be a terrible piece of carelessness on his part."

SUPERVISORS LET BRIDGE CONTRACTS

Two bridge building contracts were awarded late yesterday by the county supervisors, the contracts aggregating $77,709.68. The bridges will be constructed at Serra, over San Juan creek, on the coast boulevard, and on Tustin street across Santiago creek, near Orange.

The Serra bridge contract was awarded to the Western Construction company, of Los Angeles, on a bid of $64,663.68. Nine other bids on the contract were received, the three lowest being held under advisement during the last week.

Frank Gridley was given the contract for the Tustin street bridge, at a figure of $13,046. This contract provides for an addition of two 50-foot spans to the present bridge, which was found inadequate to handle the flood waters last winter.

4 Years' Mileage in 4 Months Mostly at 60-miles-an-hour!

Previous to January 14, 1927, there had been many experimental La Salle cars—some with mileage totals in the six figures. But on the date mentioned, the first ten La Salles of regular manufacture were taken off the production line and turned over to the Cadillac experimental laboratories.

Three months later, at the General Motors Proving Grounds, these stock La Salles had piled up the amazing total of 376,629 miles—most of these miles at the rate of 60 per hour.

No car-owner ever drove as ruthlessly, over such a gruelling course, or at so devastating an hour-after-hour speed as was demanded of these ten La Salles. They met zero weather, sleet, snow and rain, rough roads and sharp grades, and were often driven as hard by night as by day.

Here are the actual speedometer readings of the three La Salles which had the most continuous driving:

La Salle car No.	Miles
La Salle car No. 10	44,545 miles
La Salle car No. 12	46,276 miles
La Salle car No. 14	41,650 miles

From January 14th to May 21st—Week Days Only

Considering that 10,000 is the average yearly mileage on automobiles, here are three La Salles which have each yielded 4 years' service in 4 months.

Only such ancestry as Cadillac could make possible so great an initial performance. That's the meaning of the statement that La Salle is a pre-proved car.

Luncheon Compliments Guest Soon to Leave For Minneapolis

When Mrs. W. W. Kays presided yesterday at a charmingly appointed luncheon in her home, 2119 North Main street, she made Mrs. J. C. Schmidt the motif for her hospitality, since the latter plans to leave shortly for a summer's visit in her former home, Minneapolis.

A cheery color scheme of yellow distinguished all details of the luncheon, including the bowls of Scotch broom and the tall yellow candles with their tulle bows, which adorned the table. Places were found by clever little cards which bore a jocular colored porter laden with all manner of luggage, suggestive of the honor guest's approaching travels. This travel idea was maintained even in the dessert course whose ice cream was served in the form of miniature locomotives.

In the afternoon, court whist was introduced, and after an exciting session, Mrs. Harry Warner was presented first prize of an old-rose silk pillow in flower form, while consolation gift of rosebud bath salts went to Mrs. Roy Waldren. At the same time Mrs. Kays presented an attractive little memorandum book guest prize to Mrs. Schmidt.

Enjoying the pleasant affair with Mrs. Kays and her honoree were the latter's sister-in-law, Mrs. T. J. Schmidt, Mrs. Edward Brannon, Mrs. Clifford Thatcher, Mrs. Harold McKague, Mrs. Eugene Reif, Mrs. T. F. Ham, Mrs. Lloyd Roach, Mrs. Harry Warner, Mrs. Guy Ford and Mrs. Roy Waldren.

Mrs. Schmidt will leave June 10 for Minneapolis where she will visit her mother, Mrs. J. M. Hutchinson, and her two sisters, Miss Marjorie Hutchinson and Miss Frances Hutchinson. Miss Marjorie Hutchinson will be warmly remembered by a group of Santa Anans who had the pleasure of meeting her when she visited her sister. She is in the library at the University of Minnesota, and will leave soon for a summer in England, delaying her start until after Mrs. Schmidt's arrival.

Santa Anans Attend San Pedro Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rossier, Miss Marcelle Rossier, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mahan, Miss Dolores Mahan and Thomas Mahan Jr. were guests at the wedding of their nephew and cousin, George Spencer Westcott of Los Angeles, and Miss Virginia Nell Humphries of San Pedro, which took place in the First Baptist church of the latter city on Sunday, May 29.

The youthful couple are spending their honeymoon in San Francisco and Oakland and on their return will reside in Los Angeles. Mr. Westcott has been a frequent visitor in Santa Ana for several years and will be remembered by a number of friends here, who extend their best wishes.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Business and Professional Women will have no luncheon at the inn next Monday, but instead in the late afternoon will motor to Orange County park where Miss Lee Patton and her June committee will serve a steak supper at 6:30 o'clock. Members are asked to telephone Miss Patton at the city water office and make reservations. Those with automobiles are asked to fill their cars with members not so fortunate. Each one will take her own table service, but all the menu will be prepared by Miss Patton and her committee, Miss Mabel Wiseman, Miss Elizabeth Perkins, Miss Helen Woodworth, Mrs. Carolyn Barnett and Mrs. Ruby Eckel.

Feminine golfers of Santa Ana Country club will play for sweepstakes tomorrow morning at the clubhouse, with prizes to be given in three classes, A, B and the beginners' or C class. The contest is open to all who care to enter, upon the payment of a small greens fee. Playing will begin about 10:30 a. m.

Pegasus club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. G. W. Bond, 507 East Myrtle street.

St. Ann's Altar society will hold its regular business meeting Thursday evening in the parish hall.

Santa Ana Delphian chapter will hold its final general meeting Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch, 725 Minter street. Miss Jennie Leasby will discuss "Social and Intellectual Changes of the Past Century," and a social hour will follow.

The Legion Auxiliary Card party scheduled for Thursday night at 8 o'clock at Legion hall, promises to be one of the most pleasant events of the week, and elaborate plans are being made for the entertainment of a large guest group. Tickets may be secured from Mrs. Dean Collier. Proceeds will be for the disabled veterans at San Fernando and the auxiliary will also aid the day nursery at Livermore and the new children's home at Oakland.

Daughters of the American Revolution anticipate a large attendance at their meeting Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. W. H. Harrison, 1408 Bush street, as it is the final gathering before the mid-summer holiday. An interesting program and friendly social hour will be features.

Pretty Home Wedding Followed by Trip To San Diego

MISS MABEL ARNOLD, THE DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. CHARLES ARNOLD, 1424 WEST THIRD STREET, WHO WAS THE BRIDE OF EARL HOGLE OF FULLERTON AT A PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arnold at 1424 West Third street, was the scene of a beautifully appointed wedding of recent date, when Miss Mabel Arnold became the bride of Earl Hogle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven F. Hogle of Fullerton.

Quantities of gladiolus, sweet peas and carnations all in pink and white, were mingled with maiden-hair fern in a striking floral decoration which culminated in a graceful arch beneath which the young people took their place to the accompaniment of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. Grover Walters of Fullerton.

Miss Arnold wore georgette in poudre blue and white with smart hat to match. Her slippers were black and gold, and an arm cluster of roses and sweet peas tied with blue tulle completed her charming appearance.

Miss Bonnie Finch of Fullerton, wore a pretty bridesmaid's costume of blue and white satin. Mr. Hogle was assisted by Coy Johnson of Fullerton as best man. The ceremony was read impressively by the Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist church. At its conclusion the wedding group formed a reception line together with the parents of the happy couple, to receive the good wishes and congratulations of their friends. Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Hogle, mothers of the bride and groom, were gownned alike in jade-green crepe de chine.

Bride's cake with a variety of other delicious home-made cakes, and punch formed the refreshments served. Guests were given the opportunity to see an array of handsome gifts which included many substantial checks and sums of money. The gift of Mr. Hogle to his bride was a chest of silver.

Late in the evening the young people left for San Diego, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold, Miss Bonnie Finch and Mr. Johnson, all of whom were to join them in a holiday visit at the beautiful ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith. Mr. Smith has 80 acres in flowers and it was from them that the lovely wedding decorations of the Arnold home were culled.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hogle will make their home in Fullerton where a cozy bungalow, fully furnished, awaits their occupancy.

Among the guests at the wedding, were two sets of relatives of four generations each, one beginning with the grandparents of Mr. Hogle, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Hogle of Fullerton, 92 years old, and the other with the grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Chaney of Ontario, Calif., who is 82 years old and boasts 53 great grandchildren. Others present besides the parents of bride and groom, were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Butler and son Junior and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vegely and daughter Gaynell of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Smoker, Whittier; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chaney, San Gabriel; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chaney, Mr. and

Mountain Cabin Offers Setting for Merry Picnic Outing

A group of teachers recently spent a most enjoyable day in the Forest of Arden near Modjeska's home, where they were privileged to picnic in the C. M. Scott cabin, Ardenale.

Four cars filled with the merry picnicers, left the Scott home on East Fourth street, at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The drive to the cabin was delightful as quantities of wild flowers were still blooming in the hills. Upon arriving at Ardenale, the group started at once for a long ramble down the canyon following the mountain stream. There the "school-marks" forgot their dignity, and reverted to childhood days by discarding shoes and stockings and wading in the cool water.

Returning to the cabin, the group lunched beneath the live oaks that grew almost to the very door. In the afternoon some turned to hiking, others took part in a lively game of bridge underneath the trees, and yet others preferred to loaf and dream and listen to the forest birds. When it was discovered that the group boasted a fortune teller in Mrs. Wolff, all other forms of amusement were discarded for the pleasure of delving into the future for the remainder of the happy afternoon.

The group enjoying Mrs. Scott's hospitality included teachers from two schools. Those from Julia Lathrop where Margarette Scott attends were the Misses Henrietta Foster, Frances Jones, Ruth Gordon, Pearl Nicholson and Lana Brokaw. Those from John Muir school where Alice Marie and Charles Scott attend, were the Misses Stella and Linda Mueller, Kathryn Ryan, Florence Hulselek, and Marie Siebert, and Mrs. Lula Galbraith, Mrs. Grace Wolff, Mrs. Charles Gammell, and Mrs. Ray Wyckoff.

MUSIC RECITAL

Miss Carolyn Haughton
A talented little girl, Miss Vivian Westbrook, was introduced in piano recital recently by her teacher, Miss Carolyn Haughton, at an interesting program given in the Chandler music room.

A large group of interested friends gathered for the evening and all were impressed by the technique and marked expression shown by Miss Vivian in her playing. The music room was given the appearance of a drawing room in a beautiful home, by the many flowers used, with Scotch broom and gladiolus predominating.

Assisting on the program, was Mary Anna Deaver, piano pupil of Miss Haughton's, and expression pupil of Holly Lash Visel. Mary Anna gave several groups of readings including a musical reading, "Soap the Oppressor."

Opening and closing numbers on the program were two piano selections, with Miss Haughton at one and Vivian at the other. The first was "Waltz" by Gurilt and the final one was a "Rondo" by the same composer. The youthful musician gave as solo work, such numbers as "Fantasia, D Minor" by Mozart; a Bach Solifeggio; Beethoven's "Minuet in G," "Three Waltzes in A flat" by Schubert; a Chopin Waltz, an entire group of Grieg numbers, and others by equally noted composers.

Readings given by Mary Anna Deaver, included "Miss Edith Helps Things Along" by Bret Harte; "Exercises at the Kindergarten," Walter Ben Hare, and "Guilt or Not Guilty."

Mrs. Chamblay, Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. A. Cobb and the Misses Velma, Elaine and Ione Cobb, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. Grover Walters, Mr. O. Culmer, Fullerton; Mrs. Chamberlain, Ontario and Mrs. Edith Christman, Redondo Beach.

College English Class At Fullerton Edits Book of Verse

"The Verse Book" Such is the modest title of an attractive little publication that has reached The Register, and which upon examination, proved to be a highly interesting booklet issued by the English club of Fullerton District Junior college and printed on the Junior college press.

The verses in the book were written by young college students, and edited by Mildred Jean Stewart, who by the way, has contributed to the publication as well, her "Music" and "Sea Moods" being among the loveliest poems in the book.

In all there were thirteen contributors to the booklet, and a significant fact is that all but one were girl students, the one youth represented being Allan Robertson whose two poems, "The Fire God" and "The Death's Head Legion" are unusually strong and at the same time musical. The latter poem owes its rhythmic quality perhaps to Vachel Lindsay's "Conco," although there is not the slightest resemblance in subject matter or treatment. There is a bit too much alliteration, but just the same it is a worthy bit of verse.

"Gray Ghosts gliding through the gruesome night, Gossamer shapes in the moon's weird light.

White silhouettes against shadow and shade, Disembodied spirits in their gray robes made, Shadow and shade, Silhouettes made, Wandering spectres in moonlight arrayed."

Mildred Jean Stewart's "Sea Moods" offers varying glimpses of the sea. Who has not seen her "Fashion Plate"

"The ocean dances with the laughing sunshine.

She wears a dress of taffeta, Bright green taffeta, With white point lace. Her under skirt is purple and lavender.

Just then I caught a glimpse of blue."

"Grandmother" is the most charming of the Sea Moods when Miss Stewart sees the ocean as "wrapped in soft gray shawls with white lace in her cap."

Betty Dickinson Frazer has but one poem, "Spring Night," in which she sings

"Maybe I am of elfin breed, The tipsy moon grins down at me And I go gypsy wild.

The wind becomes a tempter, The moonlight is a snare, And the strings of Lucifer's lost harp

I find are in my hair." Sallie Kinsman's three brief lyrics are noteworthy. For instance her "Beauty" The moon lets down her trailing silver hair Across the world. One strand, blowing against my eyes,

Has blinded me with beauty." Among the charming bits in the little book, one notes too, Elizabeth Berkeley's "Little House," which stands—

"Among its neighbors In the subdivision, Like a picture Taken from a childhood story book."

Miss Berkeley has contributed more poems to the publication than any other one student. Others are represented by two and three, but most by a single song.

The gem of the volume in point of construction and theme, is undoubtedly "My Neighbor's Journey" by Beatrice West Bost, which was published in "The Lyric West."

Altogether it is a very worthy little publication, this Verse Book, and Richard Warner Bost, head of the English department at Fullerton college, to whom it is dedicated, may well be proud of his pupils.

Those who are represented in addition to the ones named, are Fay Eckard, Abilene Boyd Stewart, Ada Dea Shamlin, Harriette Martin, Josephine Pike, Irma Young, Rose Young, Sallie Kinsman, and Dorothy Hunt.

Miss Marian Hickman Weds H. R. Bowen In Los Angeles

Many Santa Ana guests were among those from Los Angeles and nearby cities who attended the impressive wedding of Miss Marian Hickman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Baker, 618 French street, and Harold Robert Bowen, son of Mrs. W. L. Bowen of Stockton, which was held Thursday, May 26, in the Church of the Angels, Los Angeles.

The ceremony was a candle-light affair, with the Rev. Harry Parkes officiating. Miss Hickman was gownned in beige chiffon with picture hat to correspond, and a cluster of orchids and lilies of the valley added a lovely touch of color to her costume. She entered the church on the arm of Mr. Baker who gave her in marriage at the appropriate point in the ceremony.

The ceremony was charming in its simplicity as neither Miss Hickman nor Mr. Bowen had any attendants. At its close, the bridal party left for Hotel Vista del Arroyo, Pasadena, where the wedding supper was served.

The bride graduated from University of California, and has studied also at University of Southern California where she is a member of Alpha Chi sorority. Mr. Bowen is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity at University of Arizona.

Attending the ceremony from this vicinity, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Baker, were the bride's sister, Miss Inez Hickman and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McArthur of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Quick, Miss Grace Grigsby, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. A. Winbiger, and a number of other close friends.

Club Members Enjoy Holiday Outing

One of the pleasant holiday week-end excursions was that taken by the members of the Santa Ana Plumbing and Heating club and their families, into the San Bernardino mountains.

Each family took camping equipment, and start was made early Saturday morning with camp made that day at Miller's canyon. A gas tank and hot plate was part of the equipment, so there was no need of "rustling wood" for camp fires and cooking. Fishing and hiking were the amusements of the second day and on Monday, camp was broken and the trip continued to Lake Arrowhead where a motor boat trip was one of the pleasant features. Fishing, too, was enjoyed and Charles Carlson claimed the honor of landing the biggest trout—weighing 14 pounds and fourteen inches long and had blue eyes!

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Voesskuhler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomason and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carlson and family, of this city; Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Goff and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hayward and family, of Laguna Beach.

ENGINEER FOR FLOOD CONTROL IS NOT NAMED

The choice of an engineer for the Orange county flood control district is still "open." It was said today by Chairman William Schumacher, of the county board of supervisors, who declared that there had been no understanding regarding the employment of J. B. Lippincott, Los Angeles hydraulic engineer, and that the field of engineering talent will be thoroughly canvassed before a selection is made.

Schumacher's statement sparked recent rumors that Lippincott was a leading contender for the appointment.

"There has been no discussion of an appointment," said the chairman, "and so far as I know Lippincott stands on the same footing as any other engineer with our board at present. So far as I am concerned, we will consider Lippincott and any other engineer who may apply for the appointment."

"Not only that, but we will consider them carefully. This is a big thing and we do not want to make any mistakes if we can help it. We will conduct an investigation of each applicant that will go into every possible phase of the task ahead of us."

Supervisor John Mitchell expressed agreement with Schumacher's view of the matter.

"I am not informed as yet regarding the qualifications of any engineer that may apply for this appointment," he said. "I want to be thoroughly informed before I vote for any appointment."

Mitchell and Schumacher both expressed doubt that the board could legally proceed with selection of an engineer before the law creating the flood control district goes into effect, about August 1. Other opinion has been expressed, to the effect that the county can proceed with the preliminary steps at any time.

Engineer Lippincott was employed by the board about a year ago to report upon the resources of the Santa Ana river and to recommend a program for conserving and developing these resources. His report recommended construction of a dam at Prado. His previous employment by the county was said to have been the basis of the rumor that he was being "prominently considered" as engineer for the flood control district.

THIRTEEN IN RACE FOR BEACH OFFICES

Thirteen candidates are in the race for election to the city council of Laguna Beach, if that municipality is formed at the incorporation election set yesterday by the county supervisors for June 22.

Fourteen nominations had been filed but one candidate, Henry J. Weeks, of Arch Beach, withdrew his nomination yesterday. Weeks appeared before the supervisors yesterday as one of the most bitter opponents of the proposal to incorporate.

The remaining 13 candidates for the five seats on the council are William W. Riddell, Frank B. Champion, Roy M. Ropp, P. J. Bushman, H. K. Peabody, Joseph L. Jahraus, Fred Audekamp, George S. Johnston, H. H. Henshaw, Frank Cuprien, John L. Bricks, George B. Dunham and B. B. Mason.

Two candidates for the office of city clerk have appeared. They are G. W. Prior and Otto J. Keefe. James B. Neel is the sole candidate for election as city treasurer.

The time for filing nominations will expire at noon tomorrow, according to County Clerk J. M. Backs.

Mrs. Bennett Is Called by Death

Mrs. Martha T. Bennett, Christian Science practitioner died suddenly in her rooms, 225 Spurgeon Building early yesterday afternoon.

Funeral services will be held at the Smith and Tutill funeral parlors, but the date has not been fixed, pending the arrival of two sons of Mrs. Bennett, Justus Bennett of Portland, Ore. Telegrams received here have announced that both are enroute to Santa Ana.

Mrs. Bennett had been a resident of Santa Ana for the past eight years and was well known among her church people.

EXHIBITS TO BE DISPLAYED AT HIGH SCHOOL

Exhibits of craftsmanship of students of carpentry, art, biology and home economics of the Polytechnic high school will be on display Friday afternoon and evening in the classrooms of the various departments. It was announced today.

The exhibit, an annual affair, will present the work of some 400 students and will represent the activities of the students during the entire school year.

Parents and friends of the students and others interested in witnessing the skill of the students as depicted in the various finished objects will be welcomed by the students and faculty after 2:30 p. m. and 7 p. m. on Friday.

SCOUT LEADER PAYS TRIBUTE TO 40 AND 8

Voting the appreciation of the Orange county council of the Boy Scouts of America for the results of the second annual "Forty and Eight" Boy Scout jamboree, held at the fairgrounds last month, Roland Dye, Scout Executive, has written a letter of thanks to the committee on arrangements, extolling the work of Ted Craig of Brea, chairman of the committee, for his part in the success of the venture.

More than $1200 has so far been turned over by the "Forty and Eight" committee to the Boy Scout council, but the county-wide public interest in Boy Scout work resulting from the jamboree, is said by scoutmasters and others to supersede the financial returns from the event.

The letter, from Scout Executive Roland Dye, addressed to Frank Mason, secretary of the "Forty and Eight" committee, reads as follows:

"There is our official receipt. One of those we have had the most pleasure in making out in the six years we have been here.

"We want to tell you how much we appreciate all of the good things the 40 and 8 did for scouting generally during the preparation and execution of the jamboree, but above all else we appreciated the good judgment of your chief de gare in appointing Ted Craig as general chairman, and we sincerely trust that he will be returned to us as chairman again next year. It was a real pleasure for all of us to work with one so level headed and unselfishly sincere in putting over his job, and we feel that a world of credit is due him for it.

"Thousands of scouts, parents and friends have a real warm friendship for the 40 and 8 for their splendid way of putting over the jamboree."

Boy's Quest for 'Wilds' Ends In Fullerton Park

Frank Griffin, Los Angeles youth's quest for the "great open space" ended in the city park at Fullerton today.

When Griffin was asleep, wrapped in an Indian blanket, he told officers that he intended to use $4.50 that he carried to "purchase arms and ammunition when he reached the wilds of the San Bernardino mountains."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Ferris and the latter's mother, Mrs. Leninger, were guests over the week-end and Memorial day of Mrs. J. S. Runyan in her home at Upland, where he bears the sign, "Barker and Runyan—Bark and Run In." The party returned Tuesday. Mrs. Runyan reports that the weather was rather cool at the mountain resort, and cheerful fires burned in cabin fireplaces.

Educators Would Teach Esperanto

BERLIN, May 31.—An effort to induce the ministry of education to include Esperanto in the German public school curricula is being made by the Esperanto federation.

Esperanto is now taught in several private colleges of commerce. The federation believes the language is of sufficient world importance to warrant its teaching in high schools and universities.

At a recent conference of the federation in Cologne, the practical advantages of the world language were demonstrated by the fact that representatives from 20 nations, including Japan and China, were able to understand each other by speeches delivered in Esperanto.

Citrus Crops In Italy Decrease

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—The bulletin of commercial information, published in Italy, brought out in a recent article that citrus production in Italy has decreased during the last 10 years. The area devoted to citrus culture has not changed materially, but average production is considerably lower.

Compared with the pre-war period, 1910-1913, official statistics for 1922-1925 show a reduction of about 12 per cent in lemon production and 36 per cent in exports of this commodity.

The report states that closer cooperation among growers, study of markets, better cultural methods and control of parasites are necessary if Italy is to maintain her place in world production of citrus fruits.

The first person to enter the Forbidden City of Peking during the Boxer uprising in China was "Wreck" Kelly, of the United States Marines, who was so thin he was able to crawl under the gates and open them from the inside.

COUNCIL INSTRUCTS CITY ATTORNEY TO PROSECUTE DELINQUENT BUSINESS MEN

Exasperated by delays in business men giving attention to the matter of paying licenses and meeting promises to pay for privileges accorded them, the city council last night went on the war path and directed City Attorney Swanner to start prosecution of men and business firms delinquent in payment of their license fees and to attach the waste paper containers of the American Outdoor Advertising company, if the company at once did not pay its obligations.

According to Earl Lentz, 34 individuals and business firms have failed to pay their license taxes after he has called on them from one to three times. It is the intention of the city to proceed against these men and hale them into court for the delinquency.

"The delinquency is due more to carelessness on the part of those against whom we will proceed than intention to protest authority of the city to collect the tax," Lentz said, in commenting on the order of the council.

The American Outdoor Advertising company is the owner of the waste paper containers placed on street corners. When it was given permission to install the containers, the company entered into a contract with the city by which it agreed to pay a license tax of $1 a month for each container. According to Swanner, the company has been notified at different times that it must meet its financial obligation. Instruction of the council was for the attorney to attach the waste paper cans.

Monday evening, June 6, at 7:30 p. m., was set as the time and place for a public hearing on the application of Dr. J. M. Bulpitt for permission to erect a stucco building on the east side of North Broadway, between Tenth street and Washington avenue. The building is to be a combination residence and office. It is a property in the vicinity which may want to protest against the location of a doctor's office in the residence district, may do so Monday night.

J. Vossler, H. S. Coleman, Dr. J. I. Clark and H. O. Crowe were reappointed a board of examiners for plumbers.

Visitors over the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Banks were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett and their little son, of Monrovia, a niece, Miss Frances Dunn also of Monrovia and Miss Ester Miller of Cleveland, Ohio, who is attending normal school in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Edward F. Reilly and her brother, Ben Short, have arrived from Arroyo Grande for a visit with their aunt, Mrs. Margaret Spurgeon of the Bungalow apartments.

Mrs. J. F. Wharton of Parsons, Kas., has arrived for a visit with her daughter, Miss Elaine Wharton, 306 1-2 West First street. Miss Wharton, prominent in Business and Professional club and Pan-Hellenic society, took a short vacation from her duties at the city water office, and accompanied her mother on a trip to San Diego, Los Angeles, Hollywood and a few days at Balboa.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Chapman and their daughters, Mrs. Frank A. Dean of South Park street and the Misses Elva and Viola Chapman, were week-end visitors at Forest Home.

Eddie Jones, head of the upholstery department of the J. A. Gajek company, 1015 West Sixth street, was a passenger on the Santa Fe Navajo yesterday. He will stop at the Grand Canyon and at Albuquerque, N. M., Houston and Galveston, Texas, and at Oklahoma City, where his parents live. At Eldon, Iowa, he will visit his uncles, and from there will go to Chicago and return home by way of Denver, Salt Lake City, and San Francisco. Mr. Jones is a musician and has been heard every other night over KFON. He will broadcast probably over some eastern stations.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Altken and their daughter, Florence of Eldon, Illinois, arrived yesterday and are guests at the home of Mrs. Altken's sister, Mrs. George A. Shipps of 633 North Van Ness avenue. The visitors may decide to become residents of Santa Ana.

J. Russell Bruff, head of the science department in Santa Ana college, and his brother, W. C. Bruff, left Monday on the Union Pacific for Atlantic, Iowa, having been called there by the death of their father.

Miss Mabel Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Harvey, 802 Lacy street, who is a nurse at the Good Samaritan hospital, Los Angeles, is reported to be recovering from an operation performed several days ago for appendicitis.

6000 GALLONS MASH SEIZED BY MCLELLAN

Six thousand gallons of mash, a quantity of "white mule" liquor, several gallons of alcohol and a still capable of making 150 gallons of liquor per day, together with two prisoners, fell into the hands of deputy sheriffs under Ed McClellan, head of the criminal department of the sheriff's office in an early morning raid today on a Gross rancher of East Seventeenth street.

The "catch" is almost as big as the one made by McClellan and Anaheim police officers, west of Anaheim three weeks ago, and according to McClellan the liquor plant is believed to have been operated by the same persons who owned the Anaheim "factory."

Gross, found asleep in a house near the scene of the still and mash, was placed under arrest as was Rocco Basalone, 23, truck driver of 234 South Eastman avenue, Los Angeles, who was found on the premises. Both men are being held in the county jail booked on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor.

Deputy sheriffs, armed with axes this afternoon are busy destroying the huge vats and pouring out the undistilled whiskey.

The plant was located in a new barn behind the Gross house that had the outward appearance of a rabbit hutch, built on a large scale. Several hundred rabbits were running round the yard in front of the barn when the officers drove to the place today.

The arrangement of the still to the vats was said to have been the same noticed in the "factory" west of Anaheim several weeks ago, leading officers to believe the same persons built both plants, McClellan said.

Officers who accompanied McClellan today were Joe Ryan, Clyde Flower and Harry Carter.

FORD FUNERAL SERVICES HELD IN S. A. TODAY

Funeral services for Benjamin R. Ford, 71, prominent Santa Ana contractor, who died at his home at 411 West Seventeenth street, early yesterday morning, were held at the Winbigler Mission funeral home this afternoon.

The Rev. Mr. Sawyer, pastor of the Methodist church of Tustin officiated and burial was to follow in Fairhaven cemetery.

A resident of Santa Ana for 10 years, Mr. Ford was well known through work he had accomplished in building a number of the county's best roads.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Matilda C. Ford, he is survived by three sons, Clinton Ford, 2418 Poinsettia street, Santa Ana; Merrill Ford, Orange; Ed Ford of Portland, Ore., and one daughter, Mrs. Etta B. Letter, Portland, Ore. Six grandchildren also survive and three brothers and one sister, the latter of North Carolina.

Tustin Grammar School Entered

Sheriff's officers today are seeking several youths believed to have been responsible for breaking into the Tustin grammar school last night and committing several acts of vandalism. Nothing of value was reported stolen.

Entrance into the school building was made through a window. Several doors and drawers were damaged, according to Herman Zabel, finger print expert who was assigned to the case.

EVERHOT ELECTRIC COOKER

ROASTS

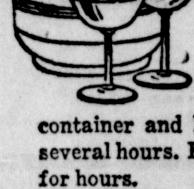

All the natural juices sealed in...

done to a turn all the way through, roasts cooked in the Everhot have a delicious flavor.

FROZEN DESSERTS

Freezes ices and sherbets perfectly. Pack ice and salt around food container and let stand for several hours. Keeps food cold for hours.

PICNICS

Connect the house current for 20 or 30 minutes, disconnect, place the cooker in your auto and your dinner cooks as you drive along. You can take it out—piping hot—hours afterward.

THE Everhot Electric Cooker is, without question, one of the most remarkable electric household conveniences ever offered... a real Electric Cooker that is also a thermal container, an ice cream freezer and a fireless cooker combined. This electric cooker does its work of preparing the most appetizing menus you've ever tasted without heating up your kitchen. Think what this means during the hot summer months!

Now it is possible to enjoy the many benefits of electrical cooking, roasting, baking, broiling and stewing heretofore possible only with an electric oven. Simply attach your Everhot Electric Cooker to any lamp socket or convenience outlet as you would a toaster or any other electric appliance. The food cooks without attention. You may leave the cooker for hours and still feel that your cooking is not being neglected. You can cook in the utensils or right in the well.

Use your old favorite recipes, and, if you have enjoyed them before, you'll find new enjoyment in the results obtained in the Everhot. Or, try some of the various delicious recipes for familiar dishes given in the recipe book that accompanies your cooker.

The Everhot Electric Cooker is very inexpensive to operate. The current consumed is less than that used by the average electric light in your home. You can cook a whole meal for several persons in the Everhot for about one and one-half cents.

The Everhot Electric Cooker is well made throughout, looks and is worth many times its price. Outer case is nickeled steel, highly polished, and trimmed in dull black lacquer. The cooking compartment is seamless heavy aluminum.

The equipment consists of two heavy aluminum utensils with lock-tite covers, six feet of asbestos heater cord with plug and connector, a pair of lifting tongs for removing the utensils when hot, and complete instructions.

This cooker is compact, yet has good capacity. While it is but 14 inches high and 10 inches in diameter, it holds five quarts. It is large enough to cook a full meal at one time for three or four persons.

Will Not Burn Out

The Everhot Electric Cooker is fitted with the new, exclusive Everhot drum type electric element... never before offered at such low price. Made of genuine nickel-chromium resistance wire embedded in an exclusive cementitious composition, it is sealed against destruction. Will not burn out when used on home current and actually improves with use. Guaranteed by manufacturer for one year if used according to instructions.

PLANS TO VISIT NEWPORT

MISS FAYE LANPHIER

MISS FAYE LANPHIER WILL REPRESENT JUNIOR C. OF C. AT NEWPORT JETTY PROGRAM

Miss Faye Lanphier, "Miss America of 1925," now engaged as a film actress by a Hollywood producing company, will represent the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce and Santa Ana Air club at the ceremonies in connection with the dumping of the first rock in the jetty improvement program at Newport Beach, June 12, if arrangements by the Junior Chamber are completed, it was revealed at the meeting of the Junior chamber directors Tuesday noon.

Miss Lanphier, who won the title of "Miss America" at the Atlantic City beauty tournament, is said to have expressed a desire to accept the invitation to participate in the ceremony if her film work can be arranged so that she can attend.

Girls representing Orange county cities will each break a bottle of water over a rock and later assist in pushing the big boulder into the bay, it was reported. As each pretty representative steps forward, she will express the best wishes of her city toward Newport Beach in the advancement of the program for the development of the harbor. Ray Bell is chairman of the committee named by the Newport Harbor

WORK STARTED ON ROAD OVER S. A. MOUNTAINS

Crew of Men Enters Black Star Canyon Today; Will Meet Road from Corona

Actual construction of an Orange county road to the top of the Santa Ana mountain range was started today by a crew of men entering Black Star canyon.

The road is to join a road that is being finished on the Corona side of the ridge. The road on the Corona side is not yet open to public travel. It is a nine-foot road and well graded.

On the Orange county side, the road will be built from the bottom of Black Star canyon at the old Shaw place to the top of the ridge, passing by the Hidden ranch.

At present the Black Star road is not passable more than a few rods inside the gate of the Yoch ranch, which occupies the Black Star for about a mile above the point where the Black Star creek joins the Santiago. Rains washed out the Black Star road badly this winter, and it has not been repaired. The first work of the crew that is to build the road to the crest of the ridge will be to open the Black Star bottom road so that trucks can get in. The new road is to be paid for jointly by Orange county and the United Forest service. The work will be under the general direction of Forest Ranger J. B. Stephenson of Corona, with Forest Ranger J. E. Paskins camped on the job and in direct charge of the construction crew.

HOLLY LASH VISEL

Pupils of Holly Lash Visel, local teacher of expression and voice, will appear in a public recital here Friday.

TO ENTERTAIN DELEGATES TO C. E. CONCLAVE

Orange county's recreational advantages are to be thrown open to the host of delegates that will meet in Santa Ana June 22 to 26 for the annual conference of the California Christian Endeavor union.

The plans for entertaining the visitors at a beach outing at Balboa were disclosed by Herbert Rankin, general chairman of the committee arranging for the conference, during the sessions held last night in the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. building.

The outing to Balboa will be held Saturday afternoon, June 21. A parade of automobiles to the beach will be formed under escort. Arrangements have been made through the Newport Beach chamber of commerce for a boat ride on Newport bay and a plunge in the ocean. Luncheon is to be served on the beach sands.

Details of the convention management were polished off by the committee at the meeting last night. The machinery for taking care of the 3000 delegates expected was further organized.

The conference headquarters are to be established at the Y. M. C. A. building. An amphitheater is to be constructed behind the "Y" for the general convention sessions.

Reports of the convention committee were heard last night. Among those reporting on the progress of plans were Miss Edith Watkins, hospital arrangements; Faris Edgar, post office; Melvin Harter, pages and guides committee; Miss Ruth Armstrong, music; Mrs. F. T. Porter, entertainment; and Miss Freda Schroeder, registrations.

McKenzie was arrested by an Oregon sheriff on a telegraphic warrant from Sheriff Sam Jer-nigan. He is wanted here on a charge of giving alleged fictitious stock for a piece of property in Anaheim.

Knight is expected to return to Santa Ana the latter part of the week with his prisoner.

DEPUTY TO RETURN PRISONER TO S. A.

Papers which will extradite J. T. McKenzie from Oregon and allow an Orange county deputy sheriff to return him to Santa Ana for trial on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, were signed by Governor C. C. Young yesterday according to a telegram received at the sheriff's office from Roscoe Knight, deputy sheriff who has gone after the prisoner.

McKenzie was arrested by an Oregon sheriff on a telegraphic warrant from Sheriff Sam Jer-nigan. He is wanted here on a charge of giving alleged fictitious stock for a piece of property in Anaheim.

Knight is expected to return to Santa Ana the latter part of the week with his prisoner.

HOME WOMEN LOSE SERVICE BALL GAME

The Business women's team of the Y.W.C.A. defeated the Home women's team, 15 to 11, in a game of service ball played last night at the gym show held by the Y.W.C.A. at the Y.M.C.A. building.

The service ball game, played under the direction of Mrs. R. R. Russick, physical education instructor, was the concluding feature of a well attended show given for the purpose of raising money to rebuild Y.W.C.A. cabins at Modjeska's which were demolished by fire last fall.

Other numbers on the program included a grand march, callisthenics, dances, drills, exercises, and apparatus work. More than 200 Y.W.C.A. members took part in it.

It was stated by Mrs. Russick that more than $30 was made at last night's affair.

BACHELORS TO HOLD FAREWELL BANQUET

A farewell banquet will be held in honor of T. B. Kelly, advisor for the Bachelors' brotherhood at the Santa Ana Junior college, Friday, June 10, according to plans adopted at a meeting of the Nietzschean followers held last night to conclude the year's activities.

Kelly expressed his regrets in having to resign as advisor of the Bachelors club, because he is leaving Santa Ana to teach in Los Angeles, at the new George Washington high school.

Walter Scott will be asked to become advisor of the club next year. He was elected by a vote of the Bachelors last night.

The farewell banquet is to be held in Ketter's gold room. The officers for next year will be elected at that time. A nominating committee consisting of Kenneth Schroll, chairman; Arnulfo Ramirez and James Smith was appointed to submit names for the balloting.

"Buy Newcom's Big N Mash."

For the fifth time in the past two years, according to police, Joe Caldas, Mexican of Santa Ana, yesterday paid a fine of $300 in Judge John F. Talbot's court for possession of intoxicating liquor.

Four of the fines were after he was arrested and the other was for his son, arrested on the same charge some time ago, it was said.

Saldava's latest arrest occurred on Memorial day when officers found four gallons and six pints of liquor in secret compartments in Saldava's home on Lincoln street. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

Girls Need Not Smoke, Drink to Have Good Time

EUGENE, Ore., May 31.—Girls need not smoke, drink or pet to have a good time, says "Miss Eugene," the title won by Miss Renee Grayce Neyson from a group of sixty contestants for being the most beautiful girl in this city. Miss Nelson is a hophomore at the University of Oregon, 20 years old, with large dark eyes and black bobbed hair.

"I don't approve of smoking, drinking or petting parties," she says, "and no girl has to do these things in order to have a good time." Miss Nelson's ambition is to do journalistic work. Her favorite studies are history and astronomy.

That loyalty brings employer and employee close together and results in mutual benefit was declared by speakers at yesterday's meeting at St. Ann's Inn of the Santa Ana Rotary club. There may be efficiency, said two of the speakers, but without loyalty efficiency is not a tie strong enough to keep a man in an organization. Loyalty, first of all, was pointed to as a fundamental need in every organization.

E. B. Collier, for years manager of the Central Lemon Growers association, selected as Santa Ana's new city manager to begin service July 1, said that he knew full well that executives differ as to the methods to be used in the treatment of employees in order to secure loyalty, which, he said, is essential to the success of an organization.

He said that it is necessary to understand the human element involved. A touch of real interest shown by a "boss" in the problems of an employee brings loyalty, where treatment of an employee as a cold cog in a piece of machinery will not. Collier said that in his long experience in handling employees he had found it advisable to fill vacancies from within an organization rather than from without.

"Failure to recognize ability and to give a man a chance for advancement is a mistake, I believe," said Collier. "I have seen men brought in from outside and put over worthy employees. That means discouragement. Great numbers of employees today are anxious for promotion, are anxious for opportunities to better themselves, to save money. Years ago a man would take a job at $50 a month and be satisfied to settle down for life. That's not the situation today. Everybody wants to go ahead. The organization that fails to recognize that factor in the attitude of his employees is overlooking an opportunity for the development of strength in his organization."

This was Collier's first public appearance in Santa Ana since he was selected for the city manager-ship.

"I am asking the taxpayers of Santa Ana," said Collier, "to cooperate with me in making the business of the city successful. I am going to try to save money for the taxpayers, who pay the bills. I know that politics won't mix with running a city on business principles. My appointment is not a political appointment, and I am free to enter upon the work free of politics, and I propose to keep my work free from politics."

C. E. Rutledge, county manager for the Southern Counties Gas Co., which organization has a large number of employees, discussed the attitude of the gas company toward its employees.

With the announcement that no one else can enter the contest judges will take the first step in judging the gardens. They will visit every yard which has been entered in the contest once each month starting with June until the fall flower show of Ebell takes place some time in October.

Judges include Clarence Gustlin, C. E. Whiting and Albert Perkins.

According to Mrs. N. H. Hilton, chairman of the contest committee, more than half a hundred entries have been made and a great deal of interest has been created among the entrants.

colleagues, but the superintendent is authorized to employ additional married women if deemed advisable. It was brought out that as a result of the ban on married women, the system had lost some of its most valuable and efficient teachers. Mrs. Wilson's recommendation was adopted without a dissenting vote.

In creating the position of school physician, it was announced that there are several applicants for the office. It was intimated, however, that no appointments will be made without consulting the county health officers, who, it was stated, will work in co-operation with the school doctor.

Fay R. Spangler, a local architect, was chosen to prepare plans and specifications for the major projects of the summer repairs and alterations, as recommended by the committee on buildings and grounds, totaling $29,593. They include:

High school—Arcades from main building to east and west building as urged by the P. T. A., $9000; painting of all buildings except the gymnasium, $5600; repairs to Pine street, $1000; change in the heating system, $4600; retaining wall around part of the tract, $300; drainage back of the main building in front of shop, $150; alterations teachers' rest room, $50; additional ventilators in small gymnasium, $54; new drain piping for chemistry laboratory, $800.

Julia Lathrop junior high school—Construction of outside toilets to replace those located in the basement, $7000.

Edison grammar school—Adding a new class room to the main building, $5000.

Lowell grammar school—Treatment of playground, $250. Following a lengthy discussion as to methods of inviting bids for school supplies, and awarding contracts on same, it was decided that the best interests of the taxpayers would be served by making award to the low responsible bidder, regardless of place of business of such bidder. The favoring of local concerns, quoting higher prices for their commodities, it was pointed out, is not only eliminating competition, but is discouraging outside concerns from submitting bids. It was held, however, that when local bids come within 5 per cent of outside quotations, they should receive favorable consideration.

The following new teachers were elected to fill vacancies in the high school: Clyde D. Cook, history and geometry; Frances W. Egge, assistant in art department; Andrew H. Morris, commercial; Ellen E. Nelson—Foot, assistant physical education.

Appointments to Frances E. Willard junior high school include: Pauline Smith, to take the place of Annie Anderson on leave of absence; Golden S. Norwood to take place of Miss Gladys Dunning, resigned; and Lillian F. Wennerstrom, to take general science.

Recommendations of the teachers' committee included the reassignment of a number of married teachers, now teaching in Mexican schools, to positions in schools for American children.

A petition asking the board to change the name of the Santa Ana Junior college to that of Santa Ana college, presented by the student body, was referred to the superintendent with instructions to ascertain the legality of the proposed change.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, June 1.—A surprise shower was given for Mrs. Leslie Crowl and Mrs. Thomas Hodge at the former's home Friday afternoon. After a social time refreshments were served to 17 guests.

Lois Moran, the little lady who started up the starring ladder in "Stella Dallas" has at last attained the top rung. She is starred in Paramount's picture version of the A. Hamilton Gibbs novel "Soundings," which comes to the Yost Broadway tonight, as "The Whirlwind of Youth."

Miss Moran's story itself makes an interesting record as she became a member of the Paris Grand Opera Ballet at the tender age of sixteen, entered French pictures a year later, went on the American legitimate stage when sixteen and stood before a Hollywood camera a couple of months later. Though only eighteen years old, Lois has already appeared in nine film productions, being featured in six: "Stella Dallas," "Just Suppose," "The Road to Mandalay," "The Music Master," "Padlocked," and "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," and finally starred in "The Whirlwind of Youth."

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, June 1.—Drs. D. L. and Edna Burgess attended the graduation services and alumni meeting at the Loma Linda Medical college Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Evans and family, of Sawtelle, spent the week-end at the John Evans home on Second street.

T. P. Vaught, of Montebello, spent the holiday with his niece, Mrs. J. G. Colley.

The Methodist Sunday school will hold its annual picnic at Orange county park Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gurnard Beer with Mr. and Mrs. U. R. Phillips enjoyed the week-end fishing at Hodges lake.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Taylor and daughters Josephine and Frankie Mae, spent the week-end at Sequoia National park.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Catland, of Belle, were guests Saturday at the F. W. Taylor home.

Miss Pauline Roy, of Pittsfield, Mass., who has been visiting her brother, D. G. Roy, for the past two months, left Monday for a several days' stay with her sister, Mrs. John Hearty at Anaheim, before her return to her home Friday.

James and Ruth Balcom, of Sacramento and George Bolin, of Greenwood, Ark., spent several days with the former's sister, Mrs. U. R. Phillips. The party with Mrs. Lora Balcom, of Huntington Beach, had just returned from a motor trip to Arkansas and Missouri.

The Baptist Sunday school will hold its annual picnic at Ganeshan park, Pomona, Saturday.

Mrs. A. L. Miller and daughters, Alvina and Geneva, spent the week-end at Mount Baldy.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Counts and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown spent Monday at Orange County park.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the White undertaking parlor in Whittier for James Harvey Warthen, who passed away May 27 at the home of his youngest daughter, Mrs. D. E. Martin, now of Fallbrook. The Rev. T. W. Ringland, of Whittier, conducted the service, which was preceded by two vocal solos by George Ringland.

Joe Russell left Tuesday morning for his home in Portland after three months' stay with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Harp. The latter entertained with a farewell dinner Monday evening. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Risner, of Santa Ana; Mrs. M. J. Russell, the honoree and the host and hostess.

The Thursday afternoon Bridge club will meet tomorrow at the home of Mrs. George Osbourne at Fullerton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chewing spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Chewing at Covina.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Goodell are rejoicing over the arrival of a nine and a half pound baby boy, who arrived Sunday morning.

ENGLISH EDUCATOR PRAISES SCHOOLS

BRIGHTON, Eng., May 31.—Brighton, the Atlantic City of England, has become known as the stock brokers' paradise. So many brokers reside at this seaside resort, 50 miles south of London, that a stock brokers' ticker service has been extended here. It has worked so successfully that many of the speculators only go to the city occasionally.

Many of the jobbers and traders have splendid homes near the shore and it is into these that the tickers have been extended. Some have the instruments in their dining room, others in the hallway or study, and quite a number use specially built rooms as of offices.

The service starts an hour before the stock exchange opens in London, carrying all the rumors and news of interest to brokers, thus furnishing clients with tips and information for the day's operations. During the operating hours of the exchange if there is a lull, or whenever the brokers are so inclined, they drop the tape and take a stroll on the beach, or in summer go for a swim, and then tackle the market with renewed vigor. Orders to buy and sell are given by telephone wiggles to the brokers' London representatives.

The rail journey to the city requires a little more than an hour, but the broker commuters say they may give up their monthly tickets altogether if the ticker service continues to work successfully.

The air, they aver, fresh off the English channel, adds zest to their task, and has taken away thoughts of retiring because of brain fog or the monotony of business.

Lester H. Young Newport Speaker

NEWPORT BEACH, June 1.—Lester H. Young, father of Fred Young, city trustee, delivered the address in the Memorial Day exercises. The senior Mr. Young, a Civil war veteran, and past commander of G. A. R. posts both here and in the east, discussed the various phases of the epochal struggle in which slavery and secession were the outstanding problems.

The Anaheim American Legion band rendered music for the occasion.

EXCHANGEITES HEAR ADDRESS ON AIR FLIGHT

An air flight from here to the Hawaiian Islands will be more difficult of accomplishment and more tedious than flying from New York to Paris, Capt. Charles H. Babb, western representative of the National Aeronautical Association, exchangeites in a brief address at the meeting of the Exchange club here yesterday.

Pointing out that the distance to all is approximately 2500 miles, 100 miles less than Lindbergh's trip, Capt. Babb said that the trip lies in the fact that there are islands between, that the lanes are not as heavily traveled as the lanes on the Atlantic and that a variation of two or three degrees in plotting might mean a flyer to pass the islands.

Weather conditions also might mean that a pilot would have to fly high he might pass between islands without seeing them, speaker said, in further emphasizing the hazard.

Capt. Babb said the contest board of the National Aeronautical Association would make thorough examination of the pilots and machines before permission would be given to engage in the contest.

Southern California may become prominent what St. Louis is to automobile industry, the speaker said, in stressing the point that conditions here are more favorable to aviation experimentation and development than any portion of the United States.

After the manufacture at Santa Ana of the planes which made the round-the-world trip and the structure at San Diego of the plane in which Lindbergh virtually flew from San Diego to Paris.

Commenting on a peace jubilee event scheduled for Santa Ana July 2, 3, and 4, Capt. Babb there was no doubt that the event would attract to the local air-hundreds of military and commercial planes and pilots.

Prohibition May Increase Death Rate in the U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The danger of excessive drinking in the United States is sufficiently apparent at the present time to be a matter of great public interest, according to Dr. Matthias Nicoll, New York state commissioner of health, in an address before the fifty-fifth annual conference of the American Medical Association and territorial health officers with the public health service here.

"We hear much," said Dr. Nicoll, "of the ever-increasing death rate from diseases of the heart and blood vessels, from diabetes and cancer, and the tremendous toll which these three diseases annually take is, in each case, far in excess of deaths from alcohol, but the rate of increase in each is far below that which has prevailed since 1920 in the case of the three diseases which, if it continued as it is now doing, in a very few years will bring the death rate to a higher figure than ever before recorded in this country."

British Leader Likes Decision

DUBLIN, June 1.—Eamon De Valera, Republican leader, told the Associated Press recently that as a free of the bond issue of the Irish Republic he was not dissatisfied with the American court's decision that the money should be returned to the subscribers. In view of all the circumstances, he said, this was the most natural and any neutral court could have taken action and that of Stephen De Valera, as trustees, seeking to prevent the Free State from having possession of money which subscribed to the republican movement. In that, he said, they had been successful and he was glad that the subscribers would ultimately suffer.

Japanese Arrest 'Red' Agitators

OKLAHOMA, June 1.—Strict watch being maintained at all ports as a sequel to the arrest of a number of Russians and Japanese suspected of Communist activities the last few days. Some of the arrested were released after examination.

Although the arrests up to the present are purely a police affair, it is hinted in well informed circles that something more serious is developing, as the authorities are much distressed by the increasing number of arrests.

PROBLEMS OF THE SOIL

Q—I have in mind planting a number of acres of strawberries, but am in doubt as to the best soil to use. Some growers tell me a heavy soil is best and others a light soil. Please give me your opinion and reasons for same.—H. W. P.

A—The fact that strawberries are grown successfully on a wide range of soils probably accounts for the varying opinions you have had. Under some conditions and methods of handling, light or sandy loam soils are best, and under other conditions and with different varieties, heavy soils may be preferable. If it is desired, for instance, to grow such strawberries as the Carolina for late winter and early spring cropping, a warm sandy loam would certainly be more suitable than a cold, heavy soil. On the other hand if earliness is not so much of an object as quantity of fruit and very possibly quality as well, a heavy rich soil, although harder to handle, would undoubtedly yield better crops.

It should go without saying that different soils require different methods of irrigation, cultivation and fertilization. The lighter soils, although warmer and easier to work, need more organic matter, more frequent irrigation and cultivation than the heavier types. It is therefore impossible to say that any one soil is best. Properly worked, fertilized and otherwise cared for, almost any soil except those excessively sandy or gravelly and the sticky clays, may be made to grow fine strawberries. Local conditions, climatic factors, amount of irrigation water available, and purpose for which the crop is grown, all have an important bearing on soil types required. Whichever soil is chosen, it should be remembered that strawberries are relatively shallow rooted and are therefore surface feeders, requiring plenty of plant food in the upper foot of soil.

Q—Can you tell me anything about a new grass that is said to be better for lawns than Kentucky blue grass? What is its name and where can it be obtained?—E. S. R.

A—There are a number of bent grasses on the market, some of which make very fine lawns. One strain which is now quite popular is known as Washington bent grass. Whether or not these grasses are superior to bluegrass is another question. It seems to be well established, however, that some of the best grasses cover the ground so closely that they prevent the growth of such pests as Bermuda and crab grass, and this is one thing bluegrass does not. If for no other reason than this the Washington or any other good bent grass will be exceedingly welcome in Southern California.

Definite information concerning these grasses can be obtained from any reputable dealer in grass seeds, either in San Diego or Los Angeles.

Q—This year an English walnut has come into bearing for the first time. Quite a number of nuts have formed already, but some have black sunken spots on them. What caused this and what is the remedy? Some of the leaves are deformed with raised spots. Please give the cause.—Mrs. R. T. L.

A—The black spots on the nuts may be either due to blight or to sunburn. Inasmuch as it is early for sunburn it is fairly safe to assume that walnut blight is the cause. Nuts blighted when quite small will probably drop off before they mature. The disease itself is of bacterial origin and no control is known. Weather conditions undoubtedly contribute to the relative severity of the disease, as some years when temperatures and humidity are high it materially reduces the crop and other years when these conditions do not prevail scarcely any loss results.

Raised spots on walnut leaves are caused by attacks of the walnut blister mite. Very rarely if ever is the injury severe enough to warrant the expense of treatment.

Q—I have two trees I would like to bud over, a black walnut and an avocado seedling. What is the best method and when is the best time?—C. R. O.

A—A walnut can be budded, but it is preferable to graft. This should be done during January or February, or possibly March. Scions should be of the previous season's growth and of course should be thoroughly ripened. Nut trees are grafted in approximately the same manner as are other fruits. Cleft grafts are used for large limbs and whip grafts for the smaller.

Avocados may be budded in the spring or fall, the spring season ending late in June or early July. Some budders prefer spring, others fall. If budded in spring the new buds should make a good growth before fall. If budding is done in fall the buds will remain dormant over winter and start into growth early in the spring. Ordinary shield budding is practiced, much as in budding orange and lemon trees.

Q—Two peach trees and a plum are covered with a sort of gray scurf and some of the limbs are dying, although the trees have had good care. What should be done to save them?—S. B. E.

A—A long distance diagnosis without a specimen submitted to judge by necessarily must be taken with a grain of salt, but all signs point to San Jose scale. This insect produces an effect on peaches and plums similar to that described by you. Multitudes of these insects pumping out the juices of the smaller twigs and limbs soon kill them and if unchecked will finally kill the trees also. It is practically impossible to give the trees any treatment this time of year as any spray applied strong enough to kill the insects would also kill the trees. Next winter after the leaves have fallen and the trees are thoroughly dormant, spray with a strong lime-sulphur, using 1 part of the concentrated commercial material to 9 parts of water. In severe cases it will be advisable to spray once during the winter and a second time just as the buds are swelling in the spring. If delayed long enough this second application will do for the curl leaf fungus on the peaches also.

Q—I have always understood that lime would help change a heavy soil and make it easier to work. Is there anything else that can be used with the lime, and how much of the latter should be put on?—W. E. S.

A—Lime is often used for the purpose stated, as is gypsum. Amounts to be used of either material range from two to four tons per acre, two tons usually being sufficient for all practical purposes. With either lime or gypsum large quantities of organic matter such as hay or bean straw or green cover crops should be turned under. Some experimenters report splendid success in using lime and sulphur together, about one-tenth as much sulphur as lime. Sulphur with lime seems to give an added stimulus to the crops that follow.

German Bank Is Opened in Paris

PARIS, June 1.—A Franco-German bank to be named the Banque Franco-Allemande, with a capital of one billion francs, will be established in Paris. The majority of capital will be German.

The project was launched after German financial representatives approached Premier Poincare and pointed out that the founding of such an institution would intensify Franco-German economic relations.

M. Poincare declared himself in favor of such a bank, and with Foreign Minister Briand, believes the bank would aid in bringing about more friendly relations between the two countries.

Liquor Tasters Are Ash Trays

PARIS, June 1.—Old wine tasters are used for cigarette ashes in Paris.

These lovely antiques can be seen in the old shops along the quays and are purchased for a small sum. Years ago every cellar had its tiny taster for testing the quality of the wine.

They are in silver with designs of bottles and grapes around the tops to make them more suggestive.

Bobbed Hair Is Argument Cause

LONDON, June 1.—Women will become baldheaded just like men do, if they persist in having their hair cut "a la mode" and wearing tight hats, according to several London doctors.

Hairdressers here, however, and one woman doctor, entirely disagree with the assertion.

They first declare that the more a woman's hair is cut the more it grows, while the female M. D. exclaimed: "My only fear is that it will make women grow beards and mustaches."

Agriculture Camp Now Being Built

EXETER, June 1.—E. G. Dudley of this place has been made chairman of the committee in charge of construction of the agricultural camp for boys and girls to be established at Whitaker forest in the Tulare county hills.

The work is to be started immediately and will be done largely by volunteer labor. Five counties of the San Joaquin valley are to use the camp, the site of which was given by the state university.

Funds have been raised largely by the farm bureaus of the various counties and these are sufficient to provide cooking and sleeping quarters in the camp this summer. Over 500 boys and girls from the various county club organizations expect to camp there this year at various times.

Federal Farm F-A-C-T-S

Flood prevention, as recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, includes: increased forest fire control, reforestation especially on tributary headwaters, tree planting on rough lands and along water courses, restoration of bottom lands.

Ninety co-operative wool marketing associations, with a total membership of 50,000, handled $10,000,000 worth of business in 1925, in the United States.

The favorable response given to the annual "Agricultural Outlook" reports of the Department of Agriculture is caused by the fact that these have been found 90 to 95 per cent accurate.

Farm population of the United States now constitutes only about 25 per cent of the country's total population, reports the Department of Agriculture. This compares with about 80 per cent a hundred years ago.

U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports continued increase in per capita consumption of milk and cream in the United States. It was 55.3 gallons for each person in 1926, against 54.75 in 1925 and 48 in 1920. Total consumption of milk and cream for last year is placed at 56,417,000,000 pounds.

IS THEATER PROP WEAPON?
NEW YORK, June 1.—The courts perhaps will have to decide whether a theater prop is a dangerous weapon within the meaning of the state law forbidding possession of such. A policeman called to a hotel to quell a disturbance arrested James Crane, actor, ex-husband of Alice Brady, because a pistol was on the bed. Crane says it was a prop.

28 BOYS TAKE SWIM LESSONS AT LOCAL Y. M.

Twenty-eight boys, taking the swimming course at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., were given the beginner's buttons during the months of April and May for having passed the beginner's test, it was announced today by R. R. Russick, physical director of the institution.

Their names follow: George Miles, Billy Peterson, Richard White, Preston Piper, David Styring, Albert Allison, Victor Mosberg, George Cone, Melvin Patterson, John Fainberg, David Wetland, Tommy Spragin, Harold Youel, Harry Spragin, George Lawrence, Pete Casas, Glenn McAdams, Ira Damrell, Harry Hoskins, James Philip, Clare Gillespie, Willie Mulligan, Kenneth Jeorgeson, Forrest Neal, Murray Patton, Russell Ramadale, Tommy Weir and Warren Barnhill.

Seven boys were given swimmer's buttons, covering 100 yards, 50 feet on back and one standing dive. Their names are, Rollin Craig, Mack Gibson, George Griffith, James Hall, Lawrence Patterson, Max Wilson and Charles R. Beach.

EMBARGO MODIFIED
The embargo against the importation of milk and cream from the area within 200 miles of Montreal, placed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been modified to permit entry from Ontario.

Party Returns From Outing

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCausland, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCausland, of Santa Ana, and L. H. Ross and son, of Los Angeles, were home today from a week-end vacation at the Thompson ranch, on Owens river. The party left here last Thursday and camped on the Thompson ranch, fishing in Owens river and on Mammoth lake. The men had fair luck fishing, but C. H. McCausland said that fishing on Mammoth lake would be better in two or three weeks than it is at the present time.

Champion Rifle Team in Manila

VIENNA, June 1.—The rifle team of the Cosmopolitan Gun club of Manila is outshooting all comers this season and is preparing to challenge the world if all continues well. In the event it arranges matches with foreign teams the radio will be used to transmit the scores, as for the outside marksmen to visit Manila is considered more than may be expected. Major J. K. Boles, U. S. A., department assistant chief of staff for personnel, is captain of the Cosmopolitan team. The other six men, also Americans, who have been shooting on the team are civilians and members of the National Rifle Association of America.

MORE MILK CONSUMED
Since 1917 the per capita consumption of condensed milk has increased 41 per cent. That of ice cream has gone up 85 per cent, cheese 31 per cent, fluid milk 29 per cent and butter 16 per cent.

ILLNESS FATAL TO CALIFORNIA PIONEER

PALO ALTO, Calif., June 1.—Col. Daniel Monroe Burns, a California pioneer of 1847, is dead at his home here, after an illness of many months. He was 82 years old.

Col. Burns was a leader in state politics many years ago and was well known in California and Mexico. From a capital of $100, with which he went to Mexico in 1833, he is said to have built a fortune of many millions.

He was well informed upon Mexican political and economic questions and wrote much on the subjects for newspapers and periodicals.

Chinese Mother Faces Bandits To Save Child

SHANGHAI, June 1.—The story of a woman's bravery and will comes from a Chinese city, devastated by bandits. Brigands carried off a 7-year-old Chinese boy.

The mother urged her husband to go to the bandit camp, 15 miles away, and plead for the lad's return. The husband was afraid, so the mother set off alone on foot. Arriving at the camp she said to a chief: "My dearly beloved brother, I am so grateful to you for protecting my son. I am glad to leave him here; I know you will take good care of him. I do not want to take him home, his father is sick and we have nothing to eat."

The bandits promptly released the boy and gave him money for his journey home with his mother.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: P. T. Barnum

Sketches by Bessey
Synopsis By Braucher

Barnum's white whales died. He got two more and they died. Then he ordered pipes laid from the Museum to New York Bay so sea water could be pumped to the tanks daily. This, too, failed, and Barnum then advertised the great "Behemoth of the Scriptures," a hippopotamus. The great showman was now beginning to recover his fortunes.

Barnum added three more dwarfs to his collection—Commodore Nutt and Lavinia and Minnie Warren. General Tom Thumb fell in love with Lavinia.

Commodore Nutt also succumbed to the charms of Lavinia, but after a swift courtship, General Thumb won her hand. Barnum spread yards of copy in the newspapers.

On their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Thumb visited President Lincoln at the White House where he gave a reception for the dwarfs. Thumb, through Barnum's sagacious exploitation and his own wisdom and saving had accumulated a fortune. Now he spent thousands of dollars on jewels for Lavinia and yachts for himself. The fish that pulled the "Tinsies" boat, up to the top would often float. They all looked fully eight feet long, and strong as they could be. "Wh— those are porpoise," Coppy said. "Just now I saw a big one's head. Oh, gee, but I would hate to have the thing jump out at me."

"Aw, they won't bother us. Don't fret," said one. "They're having fun, I'll bet. We've surely traveled very swift and also mighty far. This little stream winds in and out and leads to some nice place, no doubt. The shoreline looks real strange to me. I wonder where we are."

They moved along for 'bout an hour. "I think we're going to have a shower," said Carpy, as he gazed upon the dark skies overhead. "If it should really start to pour, I think I'll try to swim ashore." Then Clowdy laughed. "That's hard to do, though very easy said."

"Why, goodness, those aren't clouds of rain," snapped Scouty.

"You just fret in vain. It's growing near to nighttime. That is why the skies are dark. The moon will soon be shining bright, and it will be like broad daylight. Forget about a rain storm now. We're out upon a lark."

Just then the boat slowed down a bit. The porpoise all let go of it and disappeared to let the boat drift anywhere it would. Said Scouty, "We must paddle now, and make this thing move on somehow." They tried that out but soon found that they were not so good.

Woe Clowdy stood up in the bow and loudly said, "I'll show you how." And then he leaned far over, which was really very rash. He then found out just how it feels to lose your balance. Both his heels went flying and he landed in the water with a splash.

THE WOMAN'S DAY
BY ALLENE SUMNER

Here's a nibble for thought. Owen Johnson, author of "Children of Divorce," asks, "Are we coming to a state of society where divorce will be regarded as a preparation for marriage? Divorced people almost invariably remarry and usually make a success of their second marriage. The mistakes of hasty girl and boy choices are rectified. The lesson has been learned. Of 100 girls who marry before 21, 95 are in love with the idea of marriage. Of 100 such girls, not 5 are interested at 30 in the type of man they would marry at 20."

"THE FAT PRINCESS"
Here's a state of affairs that doesn't make a fairy tale at all. Princess Juliana of Holland, sometimes naughtily called "The Fat Princess," is in the marriage market, but she can't marry a prince near a throne. The reason is that Holland refuses to be ruled by any foreigner. However, if one studies the latest picture of 18-year-old Juliana one finds it difficult to believe that any husband of this princess would have a chance to display much power or authority.

WHAT CAL LIKES, GOES!
Cal Coolidge lets Mrs. Coolidge go to the circus. We know he does, for there's a brand new picture out of Mrs. Coolidge at the circus in Washington with three of the five children of Secretary of Labor Davis. It's not myth that Mrs. Coolidge does what Cal wants her to do, and omits doing the things he wants her not to do. She liked to dance, but the president stopped it. One day she got into a natty riding habit and rode with son John. The photographers got busy and Cal made them break all their plates. She didn't ride again. One day while the Coolidges were in their summer camp Mrs. Cal appeared clad in knickers and high boots. But she was back in her dresses before noon. The president didn't like "that kind of publicity." And yet they do say she "just loves" being in the limelight. Lady and wouldn't mind a third term of it at all!

HE LIKES DUMB ANIMALS
Here's one story, however, that Mrs. Cal can tell about her husband to the other ladies gathered with her about a tea table when the conversation runs to husbandly traits worth publication. She tells how fond Cal is of animals and how fond the animals are of Cal, and now he gives Rebecca, the pet raccoon, her coffee from his own saucer—after he's through with the saucer—no, he doesn't use it as Rebecca does!

ROLLED SOCKS
Another school teacher recently sent home a girl pupil with instructions not to come back until she could come "with her knees covered." When Gertrude's mother "got riled" and demanded an explanation, Teacher denied that she sent Gertrude home because of any moral issue involved in the socks, but because she thought the day too chilly for bare knees. Which revives the old question, is a child's appearance a parental or school problem? Strictly speaking, one is inclined to delegate this job to the home, but surveying the products that some homes send out, one wonders whether the schools hadn't better try their luck? In this particular case, however, I'm for Gertrude's socks. Sock-wearing kids of today have no more colds and sniffles than flannel-legged kids of years ago. In fact, they have fewer sniffles today than in the Age of Heavies.

THE BRACELET FAD

The bracelet craze, which goes on as enthusiastically this year as last, has one great danger—it encourages the girl with a small allowance of money to buy a new cheap bracelet every week or so, until her arm is laden with a tiny collection of imitation gold and glass bands, having no merit, either artistically or fashionably.

You may wear as many bracelets on one arm as your sense of good form allows. But if you want to be really smart, you will wear instead a pair of antique bracelets on the left arm, and no other jewelry, not even a fancy ring. Wedding and engagement rings are an exception.

If you are fortunate enough to possess any old fashioned jewelry, treasure it carefully, no matter what your private opinion of it is. Any brooch or chain made before 1870 is valuable. There is a limited amount of old jewelry, it is hard to imitate today and not worth while except in very expensive pieces. So if you have any great aunts or a grandmother owning old bits, show your appreciation and you may one day profit by it. Or if you find such quaint pieces of jewelry in old shops (junk shops still have them, pawn shop windows are often full of charming old pieces) buy them in preference to the modern jewelry. For antiques always increase in value and modern things usually suffer a slump.

Our grandmothers and great grandmothers had a fad for wearing a pair of bracelets, one on each arm, snugly down over the wrist. The style made the hands look smaller, the color of their enamel

Woman Is Seen
At Own Value
By Most Men

By Olive Roberts Barton

"He spreads his money around like the Great Gatsby," said the spirited young wife to the divorcee judge, "and he never gives me a cent."

We all know the man who loves to be a good fellow, comes across every time with a five or ten-dollar loan, reaches for the lunch check, subscribes for the pet hobbies of total strangers, gives the hat girl a quarter or half-dollar, and never takes change from a newswoman or taxi driver. We are just as familiar with his other side, which tells to high heaven if his wife asks him for five dollars more than the house money.

Reason
Well, he may be the world's meanest man, but in the case in question, he wasn't. It happened that the spirited young wife had been a good sized earner herself before they were married and since that event had taken particular pride in saying to their friends, "I don't have to depend on Jack, you know, I am always capable of earning as much as he does!"

Gets What She Deserves
So Jack has gotten over any feeling of being the proud oak that supports the clinging vine. He has slowly absorbed the idea that she does not need his help. She has never given him the idea that she doesn't intend to go out and earn again, although such a notion has never entered her head, really. As a matter of fact he has been paying all the house bills. The point of discussion was the matter of spending money for herself.

The Meanest Man
The meanest man is the one who takes a girl away from a good job when he marries her and grandiloquently says, "he won't see his wife work!"

And then proceeds to let her scrape a decent appearance the best way she can out of the stingy allowance he makes her.

Usually a man takes a woman at her own value, but not always.

formation for a theme which she was writing on "the psychological effects of fear." It seems that the enterprising young lady got some very good material, indeed. All the girls moved their beds into two rooms, leaving the door between the rooms open. Two or three swore that they themselves had witnessed the attack, and psychological research will be much enriched. We hope that both police and campus see it in the same light for Miss Ruth's young sake!

RANGE COUNTY FARMERS' TOUR

F. Coulter Gives Opinion of Trip Through Central California Farm Area

By W. F. COULTER

One of the delegates appointed by the farm bureau to accompany Farm Advisor Harold E. Coulter on the agricultural extension service traveling conference last week, I have been asked a number of farmers, since my return, to tell something about the trip.

People may travel over state highways and over the paved state roads, but it takes a travel over what may be said to be cross-roads and subordinate ways of the rural sections to life on the farms and the farming activities as they are carried on by that great industrial population of the state.

Such a trip I had pleasure of taking with delegates from 40 counties in California. It was a trip that started at the University of California, Berkeley, and ended at the permanent Experiment station at El Centro, 30 miles northwest of Yuma, in Kern county.

Reason for Trip

Some have asked me why this conference was held. The agricultural extension service of the university has been conducting a tour through different counties of the state since 1917, for purpose of seeing agriculture, to observe methods for its improvement, and also methods of home life as they are conducted. These alone are not the reasons. Each tour develops outstanding object of the extension service, and the importance of the tour is the inculcation of right living, the spirit of industry among boys and girls, and the great rural population, after all, make up the most important crop of our state. The generation is in a large measure responsible for the next, with the increasing membership of farmers and business men in the farm bureau, there has been a rapidly increasing membership in the agricultural service. The interest demonstrated by these young members shows in most emphatic manner the good sense that is being extended through the rural communities by agricultural department of the university, in co-operation with farm bureau.

One who was on this trip said to me for one moment the function of the farm bureau is not limited alone to dealing with the soil and soil products. It cannot help but feel that such a trip as this makes one have a realizing sense of the needs of the farmer and the possibility that should be his, to the progress and development of the great army of boys and girls now being reared on our farms and for whom we, in large part, are responsible. Comparing the great influence of the farm bureau in our state it is apparent that the progressive ranchman in all our counties should be interested, each as a member of our own farm center.

Our first day's trip extended from Berkeley to Modesto, leaving Berkeley through the Tunnel road, passed through prosperous sections devoted to prune, apricot and almond growing and found a most enthusiastic spirit prevailing among the farmers generally in the land who the agricultural extension service was doing through the trip. In that section it might be said that fruit and grain growing are principal crops in this territory, and the farm advisors there have many active projects connected with the industries.

Showing the interest that the members take in the first county entered, Contra Costa, where there was a membership of 222 men and 303 women. In most of the counties, too, the women seem to take an enthusiastic interest in the work of the extension service as the men. The reason for this, perhaps, is because a demonstration agent is established there.

Alameda county is devoted chiefly to horticulture, grain raising, and in that county 14 projects are being actively developed by the farm advisor's office. In San Joaquin county it would be from the steps that we made at nearly all the best known farmers and their families were members of the farm bureau. This was a wonderful county for horticulture, dairying, truck crops, grain raising and poultry, and it was a trip that the farm population making every effort for progress and development along their special lines for there are 27 active projects on agriculture receiving the attention of the agricultural extension service.

One of the outstanding features of the trip was the visit to San Joaquin county, where the trip was made at the ranch of Dr. Goodwin at Manteca, where Dr. Goodwin has a large ranch and is

LIMEQUATS ARE TO BE USED TO QUENCH THIRST

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The "limequat," a new citrus fruit developed by the United States Department of Agriculture for culture in the southern part of the country, will soon be found in the public soda fountains as a new source of limeade.

West Indian limes, on which the thirsty public depends at present for this zesty drink, are not grown in the United States except in the extreme southern part of Florida, and even there they are often severely injured by freezing. The imported supply is variable in quality and quantity.

The new type of citrus fruit was originated in 1909 by Walter T. Swingle, department plant breeder, by crossing the West Indian lime with the kumquat orange. The kumquat is one of the hardiest of the evergreen citrus fruit trees, and is also highly resistant to some of the diseases affecting the lime and other citrus varieties. The fruit, however, has little commercial value and is used chiefly for decorative purposes.

The product of this cross, now known as the limequat, carries many of the good traits of both its ancestors. It is thin skinned, juicy and resembles the lime in appearance and taste to such an extent that it can scarcely be distinguished from the true lime by an expert.

The tree on which it grows is very hardy and resistant to disease, and has proved adaptable over a wide range of territory. It has withstood temperatures in northern Florida and Alabama as low as 17 degrees without injury.

The limequat is well adapted for making ades, marmalades, preserves and for use in the crystallized form since the rind, like that of the kumquat, is edible.

Changes Are Made In Orange County Dairy Department

Several important changes were made in the conduct of the dairy department in Orange county during the month, among which was the decision to loan the services of the cow tester, Goodwin, Rogers, to Ventura county, for part time. Rogers will spend the first part of each month testing in the northern county and will handle the Orange county herds during the last of the month.

It was also decided to operate the Orange County Testing association on a competition basis, giving ribbons for the high herd, high cow, high heifer and high five cows each month between now and the end of the present year. With the beginning of the new year, cash prizes will be awarded each month.

A rule to safeguard the interest of the testers was adopted. This rule decreases that when a director stops testing he also stops being a director and his place will be filled by the election of the remaining directors.

Plans were laid for a dairy day to be held about the middle of June, at the H. L. Wakeham place, with a barbecue and mock trial will interest those in attendance.

Seen Best of State

In conclusion I might state that on a trip like this one gets to see some of the best and most extensive agricultural sections of our state and discovers at the same time what are the apparently great difficulties at constantly working to make and maintain the high plane on which California products stand—including that greatest crop of all, the boys and girls who are taking such a wonderful interest in the home and the farm in all sections where agricultural clubs have been formed. From start to finish, the traveling conference of six days was wonderfully interesting and instructive to all who had the good fortune to be a part of the caravan.

Everywhere there are indications of increasing co-operation between the farmer and the business man and a spirit of enthusiasm manifested in the constructive work of the agricultural extension service of the university, in co-operation with the farm bureau.

The university officials of the extension service, headed by Prof. B. H. Crocheron, made complete arrangements for this itinerary and it seems nothing was left undone in the matter of making the trip a most successful one from every point of view. There was a spirit of enthusiasm among all members of this large excursion party and it grew as the journey progressed through the different counties. The caravan was given right of way over the different roads from Berkeley to Shafter, and one of the pleasing features was an escort of motorcycle officers, who met us at the border of each county and led us to the various scheduled points. There were general expressions of appreciation all along the route of the efficient manner in which the six days program was carried out.

HENS DON'T EAT GRAIN

Here are chickens raised on synthetic diet at the Ohio State university by A. R. Winter. The chickens produced synthetic eggs, but the eggs would not hatch. Winter endeavored to produce a synthetic chicken by hatching some of the eggs.

SYNTHETIC EGGS PRODUCED IN DEPARTMENT OF POULTRY AT OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

COLUMBUS, O., June 1.—The remarkable achievement of producing synthetic eggs from hens fed a purely synthetic diet has been accomplished by A. R. Winter of the poultry department of Ohio State university. Winter selected a group of one-day-old chicks and for 13 weeks gave them every advantage of sunlight and development of normal birds, except that he limited their food to a mixture of starch, casein, crisco, salt mixture, agar, cod liver oil and yeast.

The chicks were raised in Ohio State university cages with other birds to compare them with the normal fowl. The pullets fed a synthetic diet appeared normal and the quality of the eggs they produced were similar to normal eggs, except they were incapable of hatching, thus defeating any attempts to produce a real synthetic chick.

Eggs Infertile
"Although the synthetic feeding of the pullets was a success," Winter explains, "the infertile characteristic of the eggs produced has made it impossible to produce a genuine synthetic chick. However, further experiments will be conducted."

"The shells of the eggs appeared normal in every respect. The yolks were almost colorless and the whites appeared a little more watery than usual."

The pullets were fed only purified foods from the time they were hatched. They never tasted corn, wheat, oats, milk, grass or the things that make up a large part of the diet of the ordinary laying hen.

Vitamins Cause Changes
"The only serious deficiencies in the synthetic ration," Winter explains, "were vitamins C and E. The lack of vitamin E may have been the cause for the eggs being infertile. This is the vitamin that regulates reproduction."

"Experiments show that the growing chick must have vitamins A, B and D for adequate growth. Apparently B is needed most of all and then A and D."

When vitamin B, supplied by the yeast, was intentionally eliminated from the diet, the chicks died of this food died within 14 days.

The benefit of vitamin C, obtained from lemon juice, in the chicks' diet was shown by the fact that the birds lacking this vitamin fared worse than the others.

Rice Growers of Imperial to Meet

EL CENTRO, June 1.—To aid the development of a new crop for Imperial valley the farm advisor's office has planned a series of meetings for rice growers throughout the year.

The first of these meetings was held recently at the farm advisor's office in El Centro, the preparation of rice lands having been discussed by Prof. W. W. Mackie of the division of agronomy of the University of California.

Flooding practices, drainage before harvesting will be discussed at other meetings.

Goat Milk Will Be Evaporated

SOLEDAD, June 1.—A new establishment known as the Meyers laboratories is preparing to begin manufacture and marketing of evaporated goat's milk here.

It is declared that at present no condensing plant in the world is turning out this product. This is believed to be of particular interest to milk goat raisers as affording a possible future market for an increasing quantity of their milk.

FRUIT EXPORTS TO GIVE TALKS AT RIVERSIDE

Students attending the Riverside summer session in subtropical horticulture, which is to be held at the citrus experiment station June 25 to August 6, will be especially fortunate in the opportunity to study under the direction of two of the best known plant pathologists in the United States, Doctors J. T. Barrett and H. L. Fawcett, according to Prof. R. W. Hodgson, in charge of the session. These distinguished scientists are to collaborate in giving a course on subtropical fruit diseases, which it is expected will be especially attractive to students, not only on account of the economic importance of the subject but also the further fact that no course in this important field is available elsewhere in the United States.

Among the fruits, the diseases of which will be considered, are the citrus fruits, walnut, fig, olive, avocado, persimmon and pomegranate.

Dr. Barrett is widely known to the citrus growers of California, having served as head of the division of plant pathology of the citrus experiment station for the past 15 years, during part of which he was in active charge of that institution. He is at present associate director in addition to conducting important researches. He is known as one of the best lecturers and inspiring teachers of plant pathology in the west.

Dr. Fawcett enjoys an international reputation as a citrus pathologist, by common consent being ranked as the leading authority in this important field. He is thoroughly familiar with citrus diseases in Florida and California, having served as plant pathologist in the Florida agricultural experiment station for some years, and since 1912 as citrus pathologist in the University of Chicago; and is regarded as one of the most productive investigators in the United States, having made numerous and notable contributions to the technique of the science and to the knowledge of citrus diseases and their control. Methods of treatments developed by him are widely used by California fruit growers.

The laboratory part of the course will be given under the direction of P. A. Miller, research assistant in plant pathology of the citrus experiment station.

The worms are easily and satisfactorily controlled by using a poisoned bran mash similar to that employed against grasshoppers. It is made as follows: Bran 100 pounds, white arsenic five pounds, molasses two gallons and water nine to 11 gallons. The bran mash should be applied by scattering evenly over the ground, or by placing a tablespoonful at the base of each plant.

In case of the migrating species, it is desirable to plow a deep trench in front of the migrating army to aid in checking their advance. The bran mash is applied in the trench.

WALNUTS SOLD IN COOPERATIVE WAY

Thirty-nine co-operative associations reporting to the United States Department of Agriculture are handling nuts. These associations are accredited with a membership of more than 20,000. Their volume of business in 1925, the last year for which complete figures are available, exceeded $16,000,000.

Thirty of the associations were located in California, three in Oregon, two in Georgia and one each in Tennessee, Texas and Virginia. Records indicate that the first association organized was formed in 1833. Six of the existing associations were functioning in 1900 and 18 of them in 1915.

Most of the associations listed were units of the California Walnut Growers' association, a federation formed in 1912. The total number of local associations connected with this agency was 42, not all of which reported to the department.

The total membership of the units of the associations in 1925 was 4500, and the total volume of walnuts handled amounted to 48,000,000 pounds. This quantity represented 82 per cent of the total California crop. In 1912 the association handled only 52 per cent of the walnuts grown in California. Sales by the exchange in that year amounted to approximately 12,000,000 pounds.

The California Almond Growers' exchange is another of the California associations. Formed in 1910, it represented 82 per cent of the total California crop. In 1912 the association handled only 52 per cent of the almonds grown in California. Sales by the exchange in that year amounted to approximately 12,000,000 pounds.

Flooding practices, drainage before harvesting will be discussed at other meetings.

Valencia Packing Starts In Pomona

POMONA, June 1.—With the navel crop cleaned up in the Pomona valley, the packing houses are commencing on Valentias. From present indications, the yield throughout the district will be heavier than that of last year.

As nearly as can be estimated, the San Antonio exchange will ship 625 cars, the LaVerne exchange 325 cars, the San Dimas exchange 455 cars and the La Verne Co-operative association 120 cars.

Poor Grain Crop Looms In Tulare

CORCORAN, June 1.—The absence of April rains has disappointed the early expectations of a bumper grain crop on the Tulare lake bed west of here, and as a result the proposed grain pool there has not been formed as yet.

Some of the larger growers have arranged with the Imperial grain growers, a co-operative organization which has operated successfully in the past, to handle their crops this year.

DAIRYING TO GO WEST
The coast section of British Columbia will become the greatest dairying district of Canada, predicts Dr. Creelman, former president of the Ontario Agricultural college. He sees the center of agricultural activities moving westward.

Orange Record Is Set In Redlands Area

REDLANDS, June 1.—The indications are that the Redlands district has broken another record for naval oranges this year, for shipments were recently set out from the 5000-car mark and some shipments still remained to go.

It is said that there are close to 1000 cars of Valentias in the district. Prices this year will not average as high as those of last year, as heavy shipments in February broke the market badly.

POISON BRAN IS USED TO FIGHT GARDEN WORMS

Gardeners and farmers who suffer early spring losses from worms will be interested in controls for these pests.

Injury is most noticeable at the young plants are pushing through the soil or being set out, according to the farm advisor at a recent farm center meeting. Before the worms are found or seen, the characteristic injury is usually discovered by finding plants that have fallen and wilted. A close examination will reveal that they have been cut off even with the surface of the ground. Further search will usually reveal the little deprecator curled up motionless under a lump of soil.

There are many species of these worms resembling each other closely. Some climb young fruit trees, injuring them. Others, when abundant, move in hordes, destroying large acreages of wheat and other field crops.

In general, all the species have similar life habits. The winter is passed as partially grown worms. In the early spring, these become active, feeding on whatever green vegetation they can find. After feeding for several weeks they burrow into the ground and build pupal cells, and transform into the resting stage in which they remain several weeks. After transformation, they emerge as night-flying millers or moths. The large swarms of millers always observed in late June or early July are adults or cutworms.

The worms are easily and satisfactorily controlled by using a poisoned bran mash similar to that employed against grasshoppers. It is made as follows: Bran 100 pounds, white arsenic five pounds, molasses two gallons and water nine to 11 gallons. The bran mash should be applied by scattering evenly over the ground, or by placing a tablespoonful at the base of each plant.

HERE ARE PLANTS FOR PORCH BOXES

The window and porch box season is approaching and the annual problem of plants for these decorative additions to the home arises.

For the sunny box, nothing is finer than petunias. The balcony strain has made rapid progress, and now has a finer color range, the intense blue or purple type being a favorite because of its velvety texture. These are admirable plants, because of their long stems, which droop gracefully from the boxes.

Tall nasturtiums, to make long festoons of color, are excellent material for the sunny box. The dwarf, compact type of salvia will furnish brilliant scarlets all summer, and sweet alyssum will make a mist of white to droop over the edge.

Dwarf and half dwarf snapdragons have been used with excellent effect as window plants, furnishing brilliant spikes all season. For fragrance nothing can displace the purple clusters of the heliotrope, easily raised from seed and always available plants.

A plant or two of the night-scented stock in a corner of a porch box will prove a delight on summer evenings. It has no claims to beauty and looks like a bedraggled weed during the day, but at night it picks up and has tiny flowers of a powerful spicy scent.

There are few annuals that will flourish in shady window boxes. For brilliant colors the fancy leaved caladiums have proved one of the most satisfactory and brilliant subjects with tuberous begonias to add their huge and brilliant blooms. Both these must be purchased as bulbs, but they solve the problem of color in the shady window box, which proves a problem as most of the annuals demand sun to give a good crop of bloom.

For vines, the trailing vinca, wandering Jew, and English ivy hold the place of favoritism. A handsome annual vine to trail from the window box and furnish handsome buff flowers is the thunbergia. It will stand shade well.

WHEAT YIELD HIGH

May 1: visible wheat was 10,000,000 bushels above that a year ago, and above average in size, according to the Kansas State Agricultural college. Canadian visible supply, also, is seven to eight millions bushels above last year's.

First Apricots Shipped to L. A.

BRAWLEY, June 1.—The first apricots of the season were shipped to Los Angeles from the Chris Westgaard orchard recently. The apricot season is two weeks behind that of last year, but as this lateness is general, it does not affect the prices for local fruit, which is the earliest in the country.

FLOOD WATERS IN MISSISSIPPI TO CUT CROPS

Decreased Cotton Production, Preventing Crowding Market, to Be Result

ATLANTA, June 1.—The Mississippi flood, in the opinion of many agriculturalists of the south, will bring relief at least in one direction.

It will, in its devastating way, help solve some of the troubles of the cotton grower.

For years the southern farmer has found himself unable to cope with the cotton situation. The crop, despite ravages of the boll weevil, was such as to clutter the market.

Last year was the worst in many, when farmers throughout the south were on the verge of bankruptcy due to the dangerous drop in the cotton market.

Experts, therefore, suggested remedies in the form of a slackening of the south's production schedule this year, in rotation of crops, and in the introduction of other new farming methods. Dairying, to a greater extent than was ever before practiced, was suggested as a relief measure, and this has already found some response.

Nature Takes a Hand

But King Cotton still is supreme in the south, beyond the health and prosperity of the farmers. The Mississippi flood, therefore, is looked upon as nature's way of remedying the situation. More than 3,000,000 acres of farm land is waste today. Three-fourths of it was sown to cotton. Only about 20 per cent of it may be rescued to cotton this year, provided the flood recedes in time for replanting.

Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana have been hardest hit—three great cotton growing states. In each of these, it is estimated up to 85 per cent of the inundated land was devoted to cotton.

These states are noted for their long staple cottons, which have brought better returns than the shorter varieties. These cottons, it is estimated, will be cut more than a half million bales due to the flood.

Besides, Red Cross and agricultural officials are discouraging the replanting of cotton for this year. The greatest need today is to feed the inhabitants of the stricken areas and their stock.

Try Truck Gardening

So seed is being provided mostly for the planting of vegetables and truck gardening is being encouraged. This is hardly a common practice for the south, but it is believed that first inculcated it will become a yearly habit for many of the regular cotton growers.

The result of this situation may be the long hoped for rise in cotton, with some relief to the remaining growers of the south.

Then, next year, when cotton goes back into the soil of the Mississippi valley, it is hoped, the farmers will have been educated enough at least to develop a small part of their farm land into vegetable gardening—enough at least to provide for their immediate needs.

Poultry Meeting At Garden Grove Attracts Notice

By W. M. CORY

Assistant Farm Advisor

This topic is one on which Dr. Lippincott, head of the poultry division of the University of California, is to speak at the poultry school to be held in Garden Grove June 7, 8 and 9, at the Washington grammar school.

The greatest efficiency possible in the management of his plant and business is the goal of every poultryman. No doubt Dr. Lippincott will have some splendid ideas on the subject.

Prof. E. C. Voorhees is to speak on the California Poultry Situation, giving his interpretation of the outlook for poultry in the state.

M. W. Buster is to speak on "Cost Account Studies," and Dr. J. R. Beach, "Poultry Disease and Parasites." Dr. W. F. Holst will discuss the "Principles of Poultry Nutrition," and W. E. Newman, "Feeding and Care of Growing Chickens."

The program begins each morning at 10 o'clock and ends at 3 p. m., with one hour for lunch.

For the convenience of those attending, the P. T. A. is preparing luncheon at the school for those who may wish to eat there.

Carpenteria Area Will Raise Limas

CARPENTERIA, June 1.—A considerable acreage will be planted to lima beans here in July, it is said, as the result of the visit of a buyer who urged the plantings for green bean shipments.

It is reported that more than 100 acres were signed up and that good prices for all the crop shipped have been promised.

COUNTY TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO OPEN JUNE 10

ITCH DAY' IS TAL TO POLY
RIDIRON TILT

ior Eleven May Sub for Sophs in First of Class Struggles at Poly Field

ue to the fact that "ditch day" ferred, the first of the series of class football games, scheduled to be played yesterday on the Santa Ana high school gridiron, was postponed until this afternoon. Thus, Josephmore and the juniors scheduled to tangle today in first of the football frays.
No doubt exists whether the juniors will be able to have a series of eleven men on the field, as they cannot. Coach Gerald
"G" Oliver has arranged for the juniors to meet the seniors.
The real battle for the interclass championship will be decided between the juniors and the seniors.
The juniors ranking favorites.
The seniors, led by doughty Har-duskee who was chosen captain of the team, have some of the outstanding players on their squad.
Ed Adams, George Preble, Lloyd Schuchardt, Martin Volkoff and others will be in the graduates' line.
The game was completed today for the game between the graduating juniors and the next year's team.
The game was played Friday afternoon as part of the events of alumni "home"
day. Guy ("Venus") Har-duskee, Poly fullback, was appointed coach Oliver to organize the juniors' team for the clash. Although some of the old Santa Ana players, including Chet Sie-well, will not be playing, most of the Poly guard will again promise to give the seniors a hard fight in the inter-class game in order to allow the upperclassmen advantage.

GROCCERS SCORE TWICE WITH TWO AWAY IN NINTH, TRIM
TIERNAN TYPEWRITER KIDS

You never can tell in baseball, especially baseball of the night variety. Witness the City League fireworks at Lincoln park last night when "Big Bill" Cole's Blauer Grocers, apparently beaten after a match of amazing interludes, rallied in the ninth with two away and took advantage of a most unexpected break to nose out Randolph Bell's Tiernan Typewriter Kids, 7 to 6. The best turnout of the year agreed that this was close to the most exciting night joust ever played here.

As a matter of fact, the Blauers had little excuse for being behind at all and allowing themselves to get in such a predicament where they had to profit by an unfortunate error by Harold English, the usually reliable left gardener of the Tiernans, to pull victory out of the fire. The Grocers played miserably, at times, behind young Walt Jordan, their submariner, and Jordan himself was guilty of a couple of mental lapses that cost his side runs.

The turning point of this great game came in the ninth stanza when the Tiernans were out in front, 6 to 5, because the Blauer defense collapsed in the eighth and allowed three unearned scores to percolate over the rubber. With one bloke down, Bell having made a sensational diving stab to rob Jordan of an extra base rap, Foote drew a pass and Orville Schuchardt beat out a bunt for his fourth hit of the evening. Preble was an infield out, the two runners advancing.

Master Ralph Cole here took his station at the pen and after missing two of Hitt's offerings proceeded to pour 220 pounds into the next one. The ball looked like it might sail out of town and, there being two down, the runners were home by the time the nimble-footed English, playing deep to begin with, got to a point where he could creep under it. English then caught the ball, but dropped it, and the damage was done.

Tom Hitt, who held the Platt Silvertown to one hit last week, was reached for 11 blows, Schuchardt getting four of them. Jordan also was rapped savagely, the Kids polling out 10 safeties for their share of the mad scramble for runs.

"Benny" Wilcox and Gene Hitt, two of the leading runners in town, took up tonight in the Platt Silvertown-First National bank set-to, second match of the week's schedule.

Although allotted dates by the Grand Circuit stewards, it now appears doubtful whether Grand Rapids gives a meeting on the big line this year.

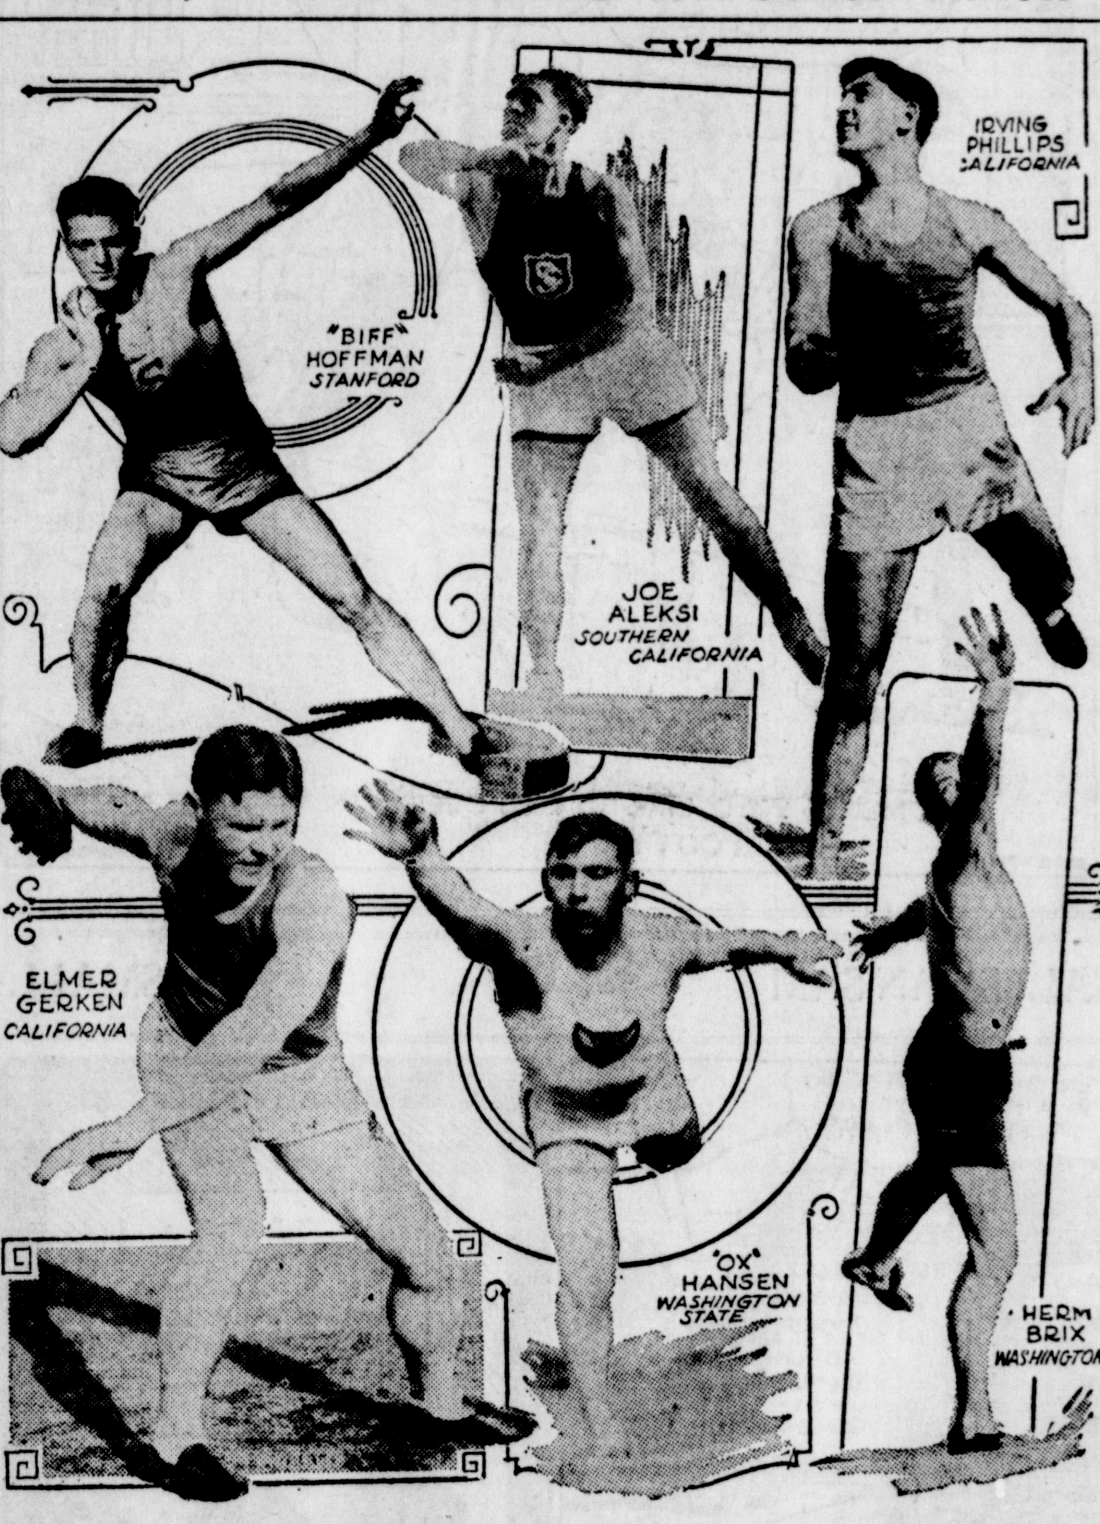

FRANCES WILLARD HUMBLER
EMERSON JUNIOR HIGH, 4-2

Frances E. Willard junior high school annexed its next to last baseball game of the year when it thrashed Ralph Emerson junior high school of Pomona, 4 to 2, in a tussle at Pomona yesterday. The Willard-Julia Lathrop contest next week will terminate the season for both local institutions.

Willard gained an early lead with three tallies in the second frame, Johnson, the local team's portside moundman, whacking a homer with two men on base. The locals picked up their other counter in the third. Pomona made its runs in the fifth and sixth. Keough accounting for one of them with a circuit sock.

The local players were guests of

"BEEG, STRONG FELLERS" OF COAST TRACK

The west grows 'em big and strong. Pacific Coast weight men for several years have ruled the track and field domain. This year is no exception and the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate at the Los Angeles coliseum Friday and Saturday will see men capable of breaking world records vie for first places. The ranking coast weight tossers are "Biff" Hoffman, Elmer Gerkin, Herman Brix, "Ox" Hansen, Bill Smith, Ralph Twitchell and Al Forster.

BILLY EVANS

STARS AS MANAGERS
Since the start of the present major league season I have talked with five star players, who last year were managers, relative to what effect handling a club had on the work of the player.
Lest you have already forgotten, I will name the athletes I have referred to—Ty Cobb, who managed Detroit for years; Tris Speaker, who did remarkably well at Cleveland; Eddie Collins, who did as well as anyone could at Chicago; Rogers Hornsby, who won for St. Louis its first pennant and world championship in 38 years; and George Sisler, who handled the Browns with varying success.

While all five insist they enjoyed managing a big league club, everyone doubts whether it is a wise thing for a star player to try to mix his diamond play with managing.
All seem to think that managing a club is plenty for one man, without also shouldering the responsibility of playing some important position.

PLENTY TO WORRY ABOUT
"If a ball player is inclined to worry, he will do most of it during the progress of the game, ordinarily limited to about two hours," says Rogers Hornsby. "Now with the manager, it is entirely different. When the ball game is over, he is able to forget about it if he won, but if he lost, it is only natural that he start second-guessing himself.

"If his team has been defeated, the manager immediately starts worrying about the next day's game. He can hardly wait for the time to come around.
"In addition to the game itself, he can find plenty to worry about relative to his players, particularly if any of them are injured and his pitching staff is wobbling.
"There seems to be no end to managerial worries while those of the player are limited."

Recently in a game at St. Louis, with the Boston Red Sox, I had an opportunity to see why big league managers have so many gray hairs.

CHICAGO CUBS
REAL SURPRISE
IN FLAG RACE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 1.—When the pennant chances of the major league baseball clubs were being rated before the season opened, the two Chicago clubs were given hardly a tumble but they are up close to the top now and may be around there for the remainder of the season.

The White Sox do not look as strong as the Philadelphia Athletics and the Washington Senators, but they are hustling and playing smart baseball. The Cubs haven't as much class as the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants but as long as they continue to get the pitching they have enjoyed they will win a lot of ball games.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have hit their stride and are more than living up to pre-season calculations despite some spotty pitching and the loss of Ray Kemer. The St. Louis Cards are still getting good pitching and they are sure to have a lot to say in the race.

The Cincinnati Reds will have to get going soon if they are to get any place. The "breaks" have been against the club but with a long stay on the home grounds they may snap out of it.

The Giants are having trouble with spotty pitching, inferior catching and an outfield weakness. John McGraw finds it necessary to experiment and experimenting is a dangerous practice during the playing season.

The infield appeared to be the best in the National league when the season opened but now it is up in the air.

The New York Yankees are moving at a fast gallop in the American league and seem to be a cinch for the pennant. They apparently have everything a championship club needs, offense and defense, and spirit.

With Walter Johnson back on duty, the Washington Senators are bound to improve.

The Philadelphia Athletics continue to be a disappointment and it is doubtful if Connie Mack knows what to do about it.

BUD TAYLOR STOPS
SUGGS AT OLYMPIC

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Bud Taylor, bantamweight champion of the world, today has removed a dusky shadow from that division, by scoring a technical knockout over Chick Suggs, Massachusetts Negro, in the fifth round of their bout at the Olympic last night.

Taylor, employing his famous left, was master from first to final gong. Suggs fought gamely after being flogged four times, but a severed artery in the throat that jetted geysers of blood told the story.

Ken Williams won it for the Browns in the tenth with a home run; thereby saving Dan Howley a run; thereby saving Dan Howley a game slip away that had been regarded as won.

WORRY HANDICAPS STAR
As a rule too much is expected of star players who also take up the managerial burden when at the very height of their careers.

It is baseball precedent that if their club fails to show the form expected, the stars worry to such an extent that their playing is materially affected. It works to the detriment of the team from two different angles.

While I am inclined to think the five stars I have mentioned still have managerial ambitions regardless of what success or failure greeted their earlier efforts, I don't believe one of them would recommend that a star player be made manager when at the top of his game.

Too many star players have had their game handicapped by being made managers and the magnates are now well aware of that fact.

OF SECTION TO ENTER CLASSIC

Snodgrass, Sinsabaugh and Other Experts Agree to Play Exhibitions Here

The cream of Orange county's tennis talent and, in addition, some of the Southland's foremost racket swingers, will be seen in action on Santa Ana courts June 10-11-12, according to plans announced today by Al Huneke, chairman of the committee for the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring this first annual court classic.

Among the native experts who are expected to enroll are Miss Josephine Crookshank, former Santa Ana high school star and at present a member of the Pacific Coast championship doubles team; Thelma Patton, Southern California junior college singles queen; Alan Dartford, formerly a member of the University of California varsity; Johnny Cress, Santa Ana city champion; Huneke, Stanford player, and the Hill twins, state grammar school doubles champions.

Entries will close Wednesday, June 8, it was announced. Enrollments may be made with A. H. Huneke, 220 Helibush building; Miss Thelma Patton, 1603 French street, or John Cress, 307 West Fourth street.

Harvey Snodgrass, internationally famous player and a member of the C. C. Pyle troupe which toured the country last winter, will come here during the tournament for a series of exhibition matches. Huneke announced. Simpson Sinsabaugh, Dick Hinkleley and Ed Berry, all well known court aces, will be among other distinguished visitors.

Entries in the tournament proper will be limited to Orange county players. All matches will be played on the Santa Ana high school courts or on those at the residence of A. J. Crookshank, president of the First National bank, a tennis enthusiast. Crookshank has consented to remodel his courts especially for this occasion, Huneke said.

CAPTAIN LINDBERGH SEES CALL BOY WIN

EPSOM, England, June 1.—Frank Curzon's Call Boy, the favorite, won the derby today over the classic Epsom course with the royal family, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh and some hundreds of thousands of lesser spectators here to see the triumph.

The purse for this greatest of flat racing events was $60,575 and the glory was beyond computation. The time was 2 minutes 34 2-5 seconds. The course is slightly more than 12 furlongs.

Hot Night, owned by Sir Victor Sassoon, was second, and C. S. Courtauld's Shannor was third.

TRACK ACES GATHER FOR COAST CLASSIC

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Track and field athletes are making Los Angeles their Mecca this week with the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Friday and Saturday as the seasonal triumph for individual and team performance.

The University of Oregon team arrived here today and will be followed by Stanford and U. S. C. from their Philadelphia invasions. Gillette and Spaulding, Montana stars, are already here and engaging in daily workouts.

Utah Aggies, Rocky Mountain conference champions, will be here later in the week as will the California Bears. Arizona is sending a number of picked athletes as are other coast and southern conference institutions.

Callahan Victor
Over Spug Myers

CHICAGO, June 1.—Mushy Callahan, a weaving and graceful little boxer who punches well with either hand, today aimed at a championship bout with Sammy Mandell, present king of the lightweight.

Callahan is the junior welterweight champion and he successfully defended his title against Spug Myers, of Idaho, last night, in a bloody 10-round battle.

Honolulu Girl
Sets Swim Mark

HONOLULU, June 1.—A new swimming record for a straight-away half-mile course was established during a Memorial Day event in Waikiki canal when Mariechen Wehseleau, local girl who represented Hawaii in the last Olympic meet in Paris, swam the distance in 12 minutes 28 4-5 seconds, the A. U. revealed today. The A. U. will ask that the mark be officially recorded.

APPORTIONMENTS OF COUNTY AND DISTRICT SCHOOL FUNDS ARE MADE BY SUPT. MITCHELL

Apportionments of county and district school funds aggregating $849,961.61, being the last quarterly allotment for the current school year, were made today by R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, to the various school districts of the county.

Of this amount, nearly half, or $400,009.91 went to the nine high schools in the county. Apportionments to the two junior colleges amounted to $30,134.90. Allotments to grammar schools, including the kindergarten department, totaled $419,816.80.

Santa Ana junior college received $16,901.35 and $13,203.55 was given the Fullerton junior college.

MODERN VERSION OF '40 THIEVES'

ESSEG, Yugoslavia, June 1.—A gypsy flute-player of this village lured a number of his band into the arms of the police here after being caught in a bag by a young girl. It was revealed when the gypsies were brought up for trial on a charge of thieving.

As dusk was approaching one evening an old gypsy woman knocked at the door of a peasant's farm house near the village and requested permission to leave there over night a heavy bag which she was carrying on her back. The peasant's daughter, who answered the door, allowed her to place the bag in the kitchen.

Later, after the gypsy woman had departed, the girl noticed something more inside the bag. Since many wolves had appeared near her home during the winter her first thought was the woman had used some magic charm to catch a wolf and then had placed the wolf in the bag. She seized her father's hunting rifle and fired into the bag. A shriek from the bag informed her that she had a man.

She rushed into the village and alarmed the local gendarme. They returned to the house and opened the bag. A frightened gypsy man, glad to escape from such an unfortunate bag, confessed that he and his friends had planned to rob the house. He told of how he was to give a signal that the coast was clear by playing on his flute. This the gendarme compelled him to do later at the hour arranged. When the gypsies arrived he arrested them all.

Gain Is Shown In America's Income

NEW YORK, June 1.—Total income in the United States among its 110 million inhabitants was 78,649 million dollars for 1926, compared to 77,313 million dollars for the preceding year, the national industrial conference board has reported. If the value of all goods and services produced in the country last year had been evenly divided, every man, woman and child would have received $671.43, the report says.

GUEST BOOK HOLDS CLEVER WRITINGS

LONDON, June 1.—Celebrities of the past penned wise sayings in the guest book of the Pall Mall Restaurant. It is a mark of the past.

Its pages are a battle of wit. Patti wrote: "A beautiful voice is a gift of God." Yvette Guilbert wrote on the next page: "An ugly voice is the gift of God." Rider Haggard followed with: "But the greatest gift of God is silence."

After a performance of "Camille" Bernhardt came into the restaurant while very nervous and wrote something in long, sloping letters that nobody has ever been able to read. Perhaps she intended it should not be read.

George Edwards, the theatrical manager, immediately after Ada Reeve had obtained a divorce from him, wrote in the book: "England, with all thy faults, I love thee still." On the next page Miss Reeve wrote: "George, ditto, ditto, ditto."

Edward Morton, who was another party in the divorce action, wrote: "And I love them both."

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

ULLERTON AND ANAHEIM CLUBS JOIN MEET

ULLERTON, June 1.—Dr. Ben in E. Haywood, pastor of the Temple Methodist church, here, was the principal speaker at the weekly meeting of the Ullerton Kiwanis club yesterday at the recreation hall of the Christian church. The program was headed by the Anaheim Kiwanis club.

Continuance of close relationship between Ullerton and Anaheim was seen by Dr. Haywood as he reviewed the good work that has been done in the past. Dr. Haywood predicted that Ullerton and Anaheim will soon be one great community. He stated that it is for the best interests of both cities to perpetuate a program of harmony.

George Howard, of the Anaheim Kiwanis, acted as chairman of the program. Musical numbers featured the Collins Twins of radio station KJH were included in the program.

Approximately 300 clubmen from two cities were present at the meeting.

For to the program Jess Hardy, Ullerton, identified the Ullerton club, and stated that a Ullerton club is being organized at the Mission play in San Rafael. The clubmen approved plan. The club also voted to have a ship model, built by George Block, 15-year-old high school boy, to be presented to the Ullerton library in Fullerton.

Arrange for Clean-Up Week In Brea

BREA, June 1.—The city trustees have proclaimed June 7 to June 14 as clean-up week in Brea and all property owners are requested to clean up all weeds, rubbish and inflammable material that would constitute a fire hazard. It has been the custom of the board to fix a clean-up period each year, and all property owners being notified, and in many instances little attention has been paid to it. According to the Brea trustees, the president of the board, all property not taken care of by June 15 will be cleaned by the city's forces and charge for same will be assessed against the property. During the clean-up period the street department will haul away all refuse placed in alleys or outside the parkways.

ANAHEIM SCHOOL ANNUAL OFF PRESS

ANAHEIM, June 1.—Representing the co-operative effort of practically every department of the school, the 1927 edition of the Anaheim union high school's campus year book, the Blue and Gold, is now off the press and is expected to be ready for distribution by the latter part of this week.

Sponsored, as usual, by the senior class, students in the commercial, art, printing, photography, journalism and English classes, aided by their instructors, played a prominent part in making this year's book superior in many ways to any that have previously been issued.

An unusual and distinctive feature of the book is the use of three actual photographs of campus scenes pasted into the introductory pages. These photographs were specially prepared by C. George Hedstrom, science instructor, and include views of the entrance to the school, one of the most beautiful spots on the campus and one of the pillar lined corridors.

Seven hundred copies of the book have been printed, as compared with 600 printed and distributed last year.

Six colored inserts, prepared by art students of the school under the leadership of Miss Madelyn Conover, are used effectively to mark off the various departments of the book.

Another new departure in this year's annual is the use of the "baby" picture of the graduating seniors in connection with the class "write-up."

Robert Wilson, editor of the school's newspaper, served also as editor-in-chief of the Blue and Gold, directing its editorial policy. He was aided by a staff of assistant student editors, as follows: Helen Grafton, assistant editor-in-chief; Robert Schweinfest, business manager; Robert Jensen, advertising manager; Marjorie Latourette and Doris Mackay, activities editors; Jack Luther and Madelyn Morelock, art; Leone Nelson, literary; Edmund Searley, Ananorico; Ember Heyne, calendar; Cuba Carner, Girls' league; Harold Tompkins, music; Florence Backs, alumni; Dorman Norton, dramatics; Earl Yonker, stage craft; L. Sivick, J. Riner and Elmer Martin, athletics; Henry Schacht, humor; Marion Utter, pictures; Nellie Sackett, senior class; Rodney Chamberlain, junior class; Norma Palmer, sophomores, and Nell Grafton, freshman class.

Rites Held for John P. Norton

NEWPORT BEACH, June 1.—Funeral services for John P. Norton, who passed away at his home in Riverside Saturday, were conducted in the inland city yesterday afternoon, with a large delegation of local people present. Norton had commanded the sailing vessel "Norwalk" of motion picture fame, whose home port is San Pedro.

According to word received by local friends, death followed an operation.

Mr. Norton is survived by a brother, Brayton Norton, Postmaster at Laguna Beach; his mother, Mrs. Harriett G. Norton, and two sisters, the Misses Helen and Elsie Norton, of Riverside.

College Society Guests at Beach

NEWPORT BEACH, June 1.—Forty members of Gamma Kappa Theta, honorary society of Occidental college, were among the guests at the Southern Beach club for the week-end.

A dinner on Saturday evening served to inaugurate the period of festivity.

Others who registered at the Southern Beach over the holidays were Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Burlew and son, of Santa Ana; Ray Grist, Santa Ana; nine members of the Buxton Keaton Film company; four guests of Walter Eastlack, local druggist; and Mrs. C. M. Sloan, wife of the manager, who arrived from a two weeks' trip to San Francisco and Yosemite park with Mrs. Rachael Yorge.

PARKING LAW IS PASSED BY BEACH BOARD

NEWPORT BEACH, June 1.—Designed to relieve the auto parking situation during the summer months when many visitors come to the beaches, the parking ordinance passed at the final reading at last night's meeting of the board of trustees provides for time limits on autos parked on Central avenue and on Bay avenue. The areas restricted from parking are practically the same as they have been. Angle parking is permitted on Main street south of Central avenue on the west side of the street, and north of Central avenue on the east side of the street. On Central avenue parking is limited to one hour with the exception of the south side of the street from Washington street to Main street, where parking is limited to 15 minutes.

Upon petition of G. C. Macleod, secretary of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, the board referred the matter of a dangerous intersection at Cypress street and Bay avenue to J. A. Winn, city marshal, the street committee and the street superintendent.

The trustees approved the expenditure of $8000 for a Byron-Jackson pump and a 120-horsepower natural gas engine to equip the new water well recently completed on the city water plant property. The equipment was asked for and explained by Stuart Cundiff, water superintendent.

The board approved the suggestion of certain officials that department heads confer with committee members of the board before authorizing any change in personnel of their departments and that in the event of a disagreement, the matter should be threshed out by the entire board.

The hiring of H. L. Roberts as a fire truck driver for the small truck stationed on Balboa Island at a salary of $150 per month was approved by the board upon recommendation of the fire committee.

Preliminary work on the 1928 budget was ordered by the board. R. S. Briggs, auditor, was instructed to confer with department heads and take into consideration the expenses of a proposed zoning ordinance, in making a list of tentative budget figures.

The application of the Ben Cope Boat Building company to erect piers for P. W. Baker, F. A. Remington and Dr. Harvey was referred to Paul Kresley, city engineer, and Eugene Fenelon, building inspector.

B. K. Stone was allowed a $38.33 refund on taxes paid on a 10-foot strip adjoining his hotel property on Ocean avenue which has been adjudged as being city property.

The life guard department under Antares was declared to be a police activity by the board and all requests from Deraga were referred to the board upon recommendation of the committee.

The board voted the sum of $90 to be used in special newspaper advertising in a Los Angeles paper which is publishing a vacation number.

Rotary Members Guests of Lions

FULLERTON, June 1.—Rotary was observed by the Fullerton Lions' club yesterday noon at McFarland's cafe, when the newly elected and retiring officers of the Rotary club were present as guests of the Lions' club.

Rich Volk, retiring president and J. Charles Thamer, new president, were the special guests. Others were Fred Strauss, J. R. Gardiner, P. R. Carroll, R. T. Davies, Leonard West, Ed McManus, Harry Suters, Arthur Staley and Will Rollo.

The principal address was delivered by the Rev. George F. Tinsley, pastor of the First Christian church, Fullerton. He advised the Lions to adopt a set of rules and then follow it through to its end, in their effort to make the club a complete success and mutual benefit to the members and to the community at large.

The music for the occasion was furnished by Miss Mabel Mitchell, pianist, and by Fred Krestel, saxophone soloist. A number of popular songs were played by the couple during the hour. Fred Krestel had charge of the program.

Plans were made to organize an indoor baseball team for the twilight league in Fullerton.

Frederick Mickle Dies In Anaheim

ANAHEIM, June 1.—Frederick Mickle, 80, well known retired rancher and pioneer resident of this city, died early yesterday morning at the family home, 1233 West Center street, following a brief illness.

Mr. Mickle had been a resident of Anaheim for the past 35 years, coming to this state from New Jersey. He was a native of Bordentown, New Jersey.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary F. Mickle; two daughters, Mrs. Maud Backs and Mrs. Blanche Epstein; a son, Walter F. Mickle, all of Anaheim; a brother, Charles Mickle, of San Diego, and a sister, Mrs. G. Watson, of New York City.

Funeral services are to be private and will be held from the Backs, Terry and Campbell funeral chapel Thursday morning at 10 o'clock with the Rev. A. G. H. Bode, pastor of St. Michael's Episcopal church officiating. Burial is to be made in a Los Angeles cemetery.

NEWPORT BOARD AUTHORIZES EXPENDITURE OF $30,000 FOR CORONA DEL MAR DEVELOPMENT

NEWPORT BEACH, June 1.—Official steps were taken last night by the board of trustees with the adoption of a resolution of intention for the improvement of Corona del Mar by extensive planting of trees and the grading and fertilizing of parkings to the extent of about $30,000.

The planting of 3424 trees of 19 varieties will cost $9392.28 according to figures submitted by William T. Miller, landscape gardener. Grading and fertilizing of a parking strip along Ocean avenue is expected to cost $1429. Maintenance of the tract for a period of five years is estimated at $15,000. Other incidental expenses are expected to run the sum total to practically $30,000, according to Paul E. Kresley, city engineer. The assessment for each lot in the tract would be approximately $6, it was pointed out.

The board instructed R. S. Briggs, city auditor, to investigate the possibility of purchasing bonds with the $15,000 realized from the sale of the gas system several years ago.

Harry Welch, formerly publicity manager for the city, was re-employed to prepare papers relative to draining the entrance channel of the harbor for presentation to the United States engineer's office for consideration. The plans are to be submitted to Major H. A. Finch, United States district engineer, for his approval.

Alterations, expected to cost $200, ordered for the house now occupied by the firemen, pending the completion of the fire hall, were held up by the passing of the building ordinance at the last meeting of the board. The board ordered the improvement at a special meeting of the day following the passage of the ordinance. The matter was referred to Eugene Fenelon, city inspector, for recommendation as to suitable alterations to conform with the ordinance. It is planned to use the building as a garage for the ambulance and rescue car.

Traffic signs and two electric signs reading "Corona del Mar," and the painting of all fire hydrants in the Corona del Mar district, as asked for by K. L. Fulton, were referred to the street superintendent.

200 FULLERTON VALENCIA CARS SHIPPED EAST

FULLERTON, June 1.—The total shipment of Valencia oranges from Fullerton packing houses last week was 230 cars. This total was but one car less than the preceding week, when 231 cars were sent east. The Valencia market has held up very well for the entire month of May with practically the same number of cars being sent every week.

The Valencia shipments for the past week from the Fullerton houses follow:

Northern Orange County Citrus exchange, 210 cars; American Fruit Growers' association, 12; Fullerton Packing company, 17; Eadington Fruit company, 15; Bastanchury Packing company, 20; C. C. Chapman, 6. The Benchley Packing company did not ship out any oranges during the past week, although this week several cars will be shipped.

Packing house officials stated that approximately the same total of cars will be shipped out this week.

FULLERTON, June 1.—The city of Fullerton plans to stage a big fete in honor of Captain Charles Lindbergh under the auspices of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by Dale R. King, president of the chamber of commerce.

The directorate of the chamber of commerce will be requested by King to make plans for a municipal celebration at the Fullerton flying field on some date during the early part of this month. It was stated that some token of appreciation will be sent to the famous aviator.

39 of 40 School Instructors Sign Anaheim Contracts

ANAHEIM, June 1.—Trustees of the Anaheim union high school will have but one place to fill on the school faculty at the opening of the fall term of school, 39 of the 40 teachers employed by the school during the term now closing having signed contracts to return next year, Principal J. A. Claves reported this morning.

The only vacancy expected on the faculty is to be left by George Hobbs, physical director, whose retirement at the close of the present term was recently announced. No successor has yet been named, Principal Claves stated.

No changes are expected in the personnel of the administrative office of the school, it is stated. Some realignment of courses and classes is expected to be made next term but, at the present time, no additions to the faculty are contemplated, Principal Claves announced.

ANAHEIM, June 1.—Opening the series of closing events to feature the closing two weeks of school, the senior class of the Anaheim union high school is to play host to the rest of the school at a gala class day celebration, the first event of the kind to be sponsored on the local campus, next Friday afternoon, according to announcement this morning by D. F. Lehmer, faculty advisor to the graduates.

The event is to open at 1 o'clock in the afternoon with a general assembly in the school auditorium at which letters and other awards will be presented, the new student body and girls league officers formally installed for next year and an entertainment enjoyed, it is announced. Members of the senior class will take the principal parts in the program.

An eight reel moving picture featuring Edward Everett Horton in "The Business of Love," music by the school's jazz orchestra, principal numbers and dances will be principal items on the program.

Newport May Be Sued For Tidelands

NEWPORT BEACH, June 1.—That the city may find itself in a lawsuit in the near future was seen as a possibility at the meeting of the board of trustees last night, when a communication from the Realty Investigating syndicate, Los Angeles, was read to the board.

According to the communication, the syndicate plans to sue the city for encroachment of title to tidelands, which, according to the letter, are owned by the syndicate. It is maintained by city officials that the syndicate does not own the tidelands, pointing out that a recent measure of the state legislature gave the property lands to the city.

GARDEN GROVE AID SECTIONS CONVE

GARDEN GROVE, June 1.—The different sections of the Ladies Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church met for the regular monthly meeting recently.

Mrs. G. Gardner, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Chilson, Mrs. Gomez and Mrs. Schell, entertained section one, with a 12 o'clock luncheon. Covers were placed for 12 members. Mrs. A. F. Mills presided over a short business session. The remainder of the afternoon was spent making towels for the bazaar, which will be held in the fall.

Section 2 met in the afternoon at the home of the vice president, Mrs. W. M. Adland. The afternoon was spent working on a patch work quilt. Following a short business session refreshments were served.

Section 3 met at the home of Mrs. W. W. Dungan and spent the time sewing.

Members of section 4 were entertained at the home of Mrs. G

WON'T MIDDLE IN PAROLES

In his usual clear-cut manner, Governor Young has made known his position in relation to parole of prisoners. It will be remembered that the paroling of convicts was one of the storm centers during the administration of Governor Richardson, who chastised his prison board by going over their heads in a long distance fight to secure the return of "Big Hutch," paroled swindler, to the penitentiary. Previous to that time, Governor Richardson had maintained that he had no right to review the decisions of the prison board. When a furor arose over the paroling of "Big Hutch," Governor Richardson found a law that gave him the right to review, and he proceeded to review.

Governor Young, without discussing the right that he may have to interfere with the workings of the board, has issued a statement intimating that he will follow a hands off policy with regard to the board's actions in granting paroles. He has selected a board in which he has full confidence. He says that he believes that the members, having had years of experience in prison work, each being a high class citizen with high ideals of public service, are working for the best interests of society and will dispose of petitions for parole in a consistent, conscientious, straight-forward manner.

The board itself is following a policy of determining what shall be done with petitions for parole only after a hearing has been given, the decision to rest not on the prominence of the applicant and the pull of his friends and attorneys, but upon the behavior of the prisoner and upon the facts in the case as brought out in the hearing.

If the prison board carries out its policy consistently, it is not likely to get into deep water.

Incidentally, we might remark that we can see no reason why county parole boards should not operate along the lines indicated in the foregoing paragraph as the lines followed by the state board. It appears to us that prisoners in the county jail should be paroled only at a public hearing at a date fixed in advance, with a stenographic record kept of the proceedings. Great care is exercised in the trial and sentencing of prisoners. Too often, in some counties, the parole amounts to nothing more than the passing around of a paper among members of the parole board until two signatures are secured upon it. Any county parole board that meets at stated periods, admits the public, lays all the cards on the table and reaches its decisions in a consistent fashion will be aiding the ends of justice. Methods of that kind will go a long way to restoring public confidence in paroles and probation.

THE ABIDING PLACE OF LOVE

June, "the month of brides," is with us once more. With thoughts of brides come thoughts of home, the abiding place of love. Dreams which have been in the bride's heart since she was a little girl playing with doll babies are fulfilled when she steps into the place that is really her very own. Here she can carry out her own ideas of housekeeping. Here she becomes a real queen with dominion over an honest-to-goodness kingdom. Here she can become a mother.

Wise are the newlyweds who prepare to own their own home. A better decision could not be made. The home is the foundation of the nation. For those who are not able to purchase their own home right away, a systematic plan of saving should be inaugurated that will some day allow the couple to make a down payment on the home they can call their own.

The responsibilities and opportunities of owning a home make a man a better citizen and a better husband. Likewise, they make a woman a better housewife and a better helpmate, a better mother. The men and women who break the laws of the nation, whose names are flaunted far and wide for their escapades, are seldom home owners. Rarely is the home owner to be found in the toils of the law. The man who guides a lawnmower over his yard and plays leap-frog with his children isn't the type found cluttering up the jails.

To brides and bridegrooms, get a home of your own, however humble it may be. That old, old saying—"Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home"—is just as true today as it was when written.

IMPROVING EUROPE'S TEETH

George Eastman, the American philanthropist who recently gave a million and a half to improve the practice of dentistry in England, could not have found any better cause for support than that he chose.

Americans, so accustomed to drop into the dentist's office at the first symptom of a toothache, do not appreciate how far behind is the practice of dentistry in Europe. Even Germany, a leader in modern medical science, has not equaled the American progress in dentistry, and it will be remembered that the German kaiser had an American dentist who looked after the once-royal mouth. No country in the world has better teeth than America, and in passing on our knowledge of dentistry the Eastman foundation is strengthening the entente cordial no small degree.

FIGHTING THE "NEXT" WORLD WAR

"If mankind has any one enemy that causes him a maximum of trouble, it is the baleful bug—the indefatigable insect. Fire is a terror, flood is a horror, storm is a menace. War takes its awful toll and crime counts its victims by scores and hundreds, yet they all pale into insignificance under the ravages of the boll weevil, the corn borer, the gypsy moth, the Japanese beetle and their kind and kin. If there is ever another World war, it should be a war against bugs."

If that is true, and we won't argue the question, we have been fighting battles in the next World war for a long time. We began in Orange county away back yonder in the '70s, when grasshoppers sometimes took all the crops that the wild horses and jack-rabbits left on top of the ground.

Then, in the '90s, we began the long fight against the red scale that descended upon our orange trees. We are still making the attack upon orange orchard pests one of our major engagements and by diligence and intelligent application of poison gas, the use of which we do not decry in this war, we are holding our own. Just now, too, we are making a smashing attack on the walnut front.

We must keep a watchful eye upon invaders. Hosts may steal upon us unexpectedly. It is important that we keep our outposts properly distributed and wide awake.

We believe that we can successfully cope with the armies of insect pests that we have at our immediate doors. We always have fought them intelligently and successfully and we are not alarmed. Other sections of the country may throw up their hands in the face of their insect enemies, but that is not our way of meeting the foe. Our products are worth fighting for and we propose to keep Orange county safe for oranges, lemons, walnuts, chili peppers, beans and everything else that we grow.

Forest Service Is Vital

San Bernardino Sun

The federal department of agriculture has determined that the 18 national forests in California contain resources worth $300,000,000.

That is a mere fraction of the wealth of these forests. Without them California would be a desert, swept by terrific floods with every heavy rain and as dry as a bone in the seasons when rain did not fall.

The federal forest reserves occupy one fifth of the total area of the state. There are other large areas of forests but they are in private hands and 40 per cent of the privately-owned forests are being ruined by present logging methods. Hundreds of thousands of acres of forests have been ruined in the past by the private owners.

The federal policy of forest conservation, therefore, means more to California than any other governmental function. Should the forests disappear the orchards, which form the great wealth of the state, would likewise disappear for there would be no water to irrigate them.

The annual value of the lumber products of California is $62,000,000, but the lumber that is cut on the Federal lands is cut as all lumber should be cut. Only the mature trees, previously designated by forest officers, are cut, and precautions are taken in felling and slash disposal to protect the young growth from fire or other injury. When large sections of the San Bernardino mountains were lumbered a quarter of a century ago, no such precautions were taken. The result: the government is now beginning experiments to determine what type of tree will grow in these barren regions. It will take probably a century to repair the damage done in those few years of the recent past in the San Bernardino mountains.

Make Early Shipments

Sacramento Bee

The intense heat of the Imperial valley, in the southeastern corner of California, just across the line from the Mexican territory of Lower California, does not invite homeseekers but enables its irrigated lands to make very early shipments at this season of cantaloupes and other vegetable products.

It recently was reported that 20,000 refrigerator cars had been concentrated there, for shipments to the East, to begin about this time. The valley's crop of that product this year is estimated at 250,000,000, valued at $17,000,000.

The figures help one to realize the preservation of the valley from ruin by floods—which is one of the main objects of the Swing-Johnson bill for government construction of a high dam at Boulder in Black Canyon on the Colorado river—is well worth the attention of congress and the administration at Washington.

As the valley is much below sea-level and shaped like a saucer, with the river running along its eastern edge, and there is no outlet for flood waters, the disastrous nature of a possible inundation from the Colorado should be evident.

Editorial Shorts

The Stockton Independent estimates that the potato crop of the San Joaquin delta this year will bring the growers $7,500,000, and California is not rated as a potato state either. The Perrie valley has 1000 acres in potatoes this year, according to reports given the Press, and that item illustrates in a small way the growing importance of the industry.—Riverside Press.

ADVICE FOR PATIENTS WITH HEART DISEASE
Sir Clifford Allibut, one of the greatest of the British authorities on heart disease, said to his pupils: "Tell a patient with heart disease to find out what he can do and do it; tell him to find out what he cannot do and never do it."

The one hope of prolonging life in these patients is to keep their activities within the functional capacity of the damaged organ. Persons with heart disease should avoid occupations that involve sudden effort, such as lifting heavy weights, or the constant use of the arms as in swimming, in sweeping, or in hammering. In general, any exercise that the patient can take without becoming short of breath or feeling pain will be good for him. The chief prescription, however, is rest, which is the first advice whenever any symptoms appear.

In order to provide rest for a weakened heart the physician will usually prescribe a diet that is low in protein material, low in sugars, limited as to fluids which make a greater quantity for the heart to push through the blood vessels, and capable of easy digestion. The person with heart disease should not overeat, because the products of digestion are an added burden in the circulation, and because a full stomach may, in some positions, press upward on the diaphragm and seriously affect the movements of the heart.

The physician may prescribe drugs which are sedative and serve not only to help the patient sleep but also lower the threshold of stimulation of his nervous system and thus permit the patient to respond less readily to minor irritations. A drug such as digitalis has the power to slow the heart and to regulate and strengthen its beat. All of the drugs that are used in the control of heart disease are powerful for harm as well as for good if they are not prescribed in proper doses given at the proper time. Certainly, they should never be used in attempts at self-treatment.

The number of deaths from heart disease for each 100,000 persons rose steadily from 161.2 in 1901 to 202.4 in 1917 and has remained rather steadily above 175 ever since. The increase in the death rates from heart disease has given great concern to both physicians and public officials. The prevention rests in proper attention to focal infections in early life and in proper attention to infections and to a suitable personal hygiene in middle and later life.

It is an old saying that a man is as old as his arteries. If the patient's general health is good and if he keeps regular habits, if a heart defect is compensated and has not progressed for several years, the physician is likely to promise him many additional years of life.

"Prove all things, hold fast that which is genuine." Such was the advice given by a great leader many years ago to a group of people who were quite perplexed. His advice is timely. We too are often bewildered. Our age has been described as one that is re-evaluating its values. Things hitherto considered far too sacred to be questioned, are now on the witness stand and are undergoing a cross examination, as insistent as it is merciless.

Now I would like you to see that these words contain sound counsel. They indicate the type of mind that we need for just such a period as that through which we are passing. "Prove" and at the same time "hold fast." That is not easy, but it is essential. It was said of Pasteur that "he had a mind that observes and a hand that executes." Obviously this great scientist, even in his life of tireless investigation, held fast to certain values which he considered genuine enough to win his respect and loyalty.

It is quite easy for us to do one thing, or the other, rather than both. Some people for example are adepts in the art of proving all things. They are analysts. They love to pull apart the petals of a flower and see the how of its construction. They are ever asking questions. They never have any answers. Other people stand at another extreme. They are holding fast. Their minds are quite made up. Everything is settled, for them. Underneath all of the vexing problems of our age, they have mentally written Q. E. D.

One is reminded as he thinks of such people of the young lady who, many years ago, graduated from college. After receiving her diploma she said, "Well my education is at last finished. It would be strange if after four years hard application, anything were left incomplete. Happily that is all over now and I have nothing to do but to exercise my various accomplishments. As to common things, geography, history, poetry, philosophy, thank my stars, I have gotten through with them all, so I may consider myself not only perfectly accomplished, but also thoroughly well informed."

I would venture to suggest that even for a young lady life might lose its zest with such a type of mind. Unfortunately she is not alone. Such is the mental attitude of very many, who have ceased to ask questions, and for whom life has become a closed book. Like the ivy they are holding fast, in spite of the fact that the walls to which they cling are no longer inhabited.

The healthy mind is that which combines both of these attitudes. It investigates, and at the same time, holds fast. Scan the heavens for every new ray of light, but keep your feet on the ground. Set your sail to catch every new gale of truth, but keep your anchor—hold fast as you prove.

Worth While Verse

MY PRAYER

Great God, I ask Thee for no meaner pelf
Than that I may not disappoint myself;
That in my action I may soar as high
As I can now discern with this clear eye.

That my weak hand may equal my firm faith,
And my life practice more than my tongue saith;
That my low conduct may not show,
Nor my relenting lines,
That I Thy purpose did not know,
Or overrated Thy designs.

—Henry David Thoreau.

Time To Smile

GREAT CONCERN

"I'm nearly sure that's an old friend of mine sitting at that table over there."
"Then why don't you speak to him?"
"I'm afraid to, because he's so shy that he would feel quite awkward if it turned out to be another man after all."—From the Weekly Scotsman.

THE LAST WORD

Wife (during the quarrel)—Don't you dare to speak to me again for a month.
Husband—Do you think you'll have finished all you have to say by then?—Boston Transcript.

TEMPORARY

He—When you promised to obey at the altar you waived certain rights.
She—Yes, but it wasn't a permanent waiver.—Answers, London.

READY FOR ENCORE

Guest (still hungry)—Now, if you like.—Answers, London.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Puds Simkins and Shorty Judge was walking along jest walking along, and some little puppy dog came up to us wagging his tale as if he thawt we belonged to him.

Being a brown puppy dog without much tale to wag but wagging it twice as fast as most dogs as if he wanted it to make up in speed what it didn't have in length, and I sed, G, this would be a peetchy dog to adopt and have for a mascot for the whole crowd, why don't you adopt him, Shorty, and collect a cent apiece from all the fellows every week to pay for his feed?

I would, only we had a dog once and my mother was so fond of it she sed she would never have another one in the house, Shorty sed, Why don't you? he sed, and I sed I would, only our cook dont like dogs, in fact she dont like anything, why dont you, Puds, he's still so young if you adopt him he rite away he'll be libel to think he was born in your house.

I would only our cat mite hert him or he mite hert our cat, Puds sed.

Proving we all knew we wouldnt be aloud to, and I sed, Well G wizzickers the poor little puppy has no home, lets put him in that automobile and wen the man sees him in he'll like his looks so much he'll take him home.

Meaning a automobile with a man cranking the frunt of it to try to make it go, and we picked the dog up and put him on the back seat, and jest then the automobile started to sound as if it would go, and the man looked and down the street and wisseled and the dog started to bark and the man sed, Q, there you are, how did you get back in there, your getting pretty good.

And he got in and drove away, including the puppy.
Proving jest because somebody acts frendly, that dont say you can own them.

Mark Twain Re-Created
The Jumping Frog Story

By Henry Hawson in Fresno Republican

Publication of a dispatch from Stockton to the effect that literature students of the College of the Pacific are pondering over the problem of whether Mark Twain's "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County," was plagiarized, has doubtless interested many. The suggestion that the skit, which gained for Mark Twain his first recognition as a humorist was stolen, is enough to create uneasiness in the minds of those who count themselves among his admirers.

However, this seems to be merely one more proof that literary genius is as often displayed by embellishing a story as by originality. That Twain knew the jumping frog story had already been in print is sufficiently evidenced by the following excerpt from Albert Bigelow Paine's biography, describing Twain's experiences at Angel's camp:

"most of their days were spent in the barroom of the dilapidated tavern, enjoying the company of a former Illinois river pilot, Ben Coon, a solemn, fat-witted person, who dozed by the stove or told slow endless stories, without point or application. To Mark Twain and Jim Gillis, however, Ben Coon was a delight. It was soothing and comfortable to listen to his endless narratives, told in that solemn way, with no suspicion of humor. Even when his yarns had point, he did not recognize it. One dreary afternoon, in his slow, monotonous fashion, he told them about a frog—a frog that had belonged to a man named Coleman, who trained it to jump, but that failed to win a wager because the owner of a rival frog had surreptitiously loaded the trained jumper with shot. The story had circulated among the camps, and a well known journalist named Samuel Seabough, had already made a squib of it, but neither Clemmons nor Gillis had ever happened to hear it before. They thought the tale in itself amusing, and the spectacle of a man drifting se-

Paine's biography of Mark Twain, one of the best ever written of any life, is largely based upon Twain's own description of the incidents related and the last 1 words of the foregoing excerpt appear to be Twain's identical language in describing to his biographer the incident which proved so valuable.

I have not yet had the opportunity of comparing Seabough's version published in the Stockton Independent in 1883 with that of Twain's. But I am quite prepared to find upon such comparison the "Twain's long introduction an anti-climax," referred to in the Stockton dispatch, contribute the touch of genius which transmute a very ordinary yarn into a literary masterpiece and gained for Twain world-wide fame.

THE ANCIENT JUMPING FROG.

Oakland Tribune—Students of American literature at the College of the Pacific are said to be exercised over the fact that while Mark Twain did not write his famous story "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" until the late 60s, "the substance of the story appeared in a Stockton paper in an issue of several years before the—to be exact, the Stockton Independent of December 11, 1858."

The question agitating the students is "Was Mark Twain a Plagiarist?"

While these researchers are considering the matter, they will not doubt be interested to know that Mark Twain in his volume "He to Tell a Story" gives what he calls "The Private History of the Jumping Frog Story." Professor Van Dyke of Princeton University had called the humorist's attention to the fact that the story was common in Boeotia two thousand years ago, and Twain in the article before him, at page 152, very obligingly quotes verbatim the story taken from the Greek.

Third Offenses

Fresno Republican

The governor has signed the "habitual criminal" bill, which, later on, against the carrying out of this act, as there is a howl on now, in New York.

But it is a good proposal, even though critics can, by thinking out possible extreme instances, find arguments against it.

The new law provides that, on the third conviction for any one of certain felonies, the offender shall be sentenced to life imprisonment, and that no parole official shall take cognizance of any parole petition until after at least 12 years has been served.

All the arguments against a law of this kind are based on considerations relating solely to the third offense.

The do not take into consideration the fact that a one-time offender always has a one-time warning, in his own conscience. They do not take into consideration that a two-times offender always has, in his own conscience, a two-time warning.

Society ought not to keep on bounding a convict with the degradation of his former sins. But this convict should never forget himself.

He should always walk a little more carefully than he would otherwise.

The conscience-free citizen can conduct himself with a certain abandon that no offender can ever have. He has been through the fire. His penitence is a fact that should guard his hand and soul.

He should not permit himself to slip, as can the one who is not experienced. In his own memory, he forever carries a warning of the consequences of sin.

So, if a man has been once convicted of robbery, or burglary, or arson, or murder, or violent assault, or bribery of a public official, or train wrecking, or receiving stolen goods, and is then again guilty of one of these offenses, he should be extraordinarily careful no matter how penitent or pure a conscience, that he should not offend again. If he does offend he should be put away.

Did You Ever Stop to Think

THAT the "ethics of journalism" can be briefly described in the following word picture based on the letters of the word "Ethics" itself:

E—The newspaper must be energetic in the gathering of its news and the distribution of its editions. The newspaper must be enterprising.

T—The newspaper must tell the Truth.

H—The newspaper must be Human—must have a heart.

I—The integrity of newspaper owners and of the circulation figures made public must be without question. The newspaper must be interesting.

C—The newspaper must have the courage of its convictions.

S—The newspaper must be sincere and sympathetic and write ten with Simplicity.

Abraham Lincoln

(Before His Portrait)

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, truest American Honorable, kindly and always a gentleman

Tell me,
How was it you made yourself great,
How came you the leader of Armies and States?
You, who in poverty learned how to write
By scratching on boards by the dim fire light.
Tall lanky boy who split logs to buy books
And studied at night in the cold attic nook,
Working by day in your homespun and jeans,
Yet now you rank higher than monarchs and queens.
You, who moved armies o'er mountain and lee
To fight for the Union and set the slaves free,
Yet always had time for a helpful kind deed
And thought for the person in trouble and need.
Tell me your secret to know and to do
So I may be truly American too!

For my ambition was not to be great
But just to serve country and people and state,
I longed so to serve I had no time for pride
Twas after my Gettysburg speech that I cried!
Not what we boast we are going to do
But what we accomplish each day we pass through.
I studied and worked for the joy I could find
And only because I loved folks was I kind;
I learned in the lesson that poverty brings
That joy is not found in the having of things.
I lived close to Nature—to brooks, hills and sod,
And when I was troubled I sought help from God.
And this you must learn; if great things you would do
Above everything else to your best self be true!
